

new instructors join faculty

AMY McCLELLAN
Staff Writer

This fall freshmen will not be only ones learning their way around. They will be joined by new faculty members Dr. Margie Crocker, Cecile Nabors, Dr. Lawrence J. Logue, Dr. Thomas Ekman, Capt. Matthew F. Hea, Aaron W. Warren and Sandy L. Magnusson.

Dr. Crocker, who received a bachelor's and master's degree at UNA and her doctorate at the University of Alabama, will join the staff as assistant professor of administrative office services.

Nabors, who received a bachelor's degree from Millsaps College and a master's degree from San Jose State University, will join the staff as an assistant professor, librarian.

Dr. Logue, who received a bachelor's degree and M.N.S. from the University of South Dakota and a Ph.D. at the University of Wyoming, will join the faculty as assistant professor of earth science.

Dr. Ekman, who received a bachelor's degree from Arkansas College and his doctorate from Louisiana State University, will enter as assistant professor of chemistry.

Capt. Hea, who received his degree from UNA, will serve as assistant professor of military science.

Warren, who received a bachelor's degree from Memphis State University and a master's degree from Florida State University, will be assistant professor, librarian at Kilby School.

Magnusson, who received a bachelor's degree from the University of Northern Colorado and a master's degree from Southwest Missouri University, will be a counselor at Kilby Laboratory School.