Outstanding People & Events in American History
Join us as we discuss some of the fascinating people and events that have shaped this great country. Our discussions will include early 19th century medical practices in the Shoals & elsewhere (such as the Lewis & Clark expedition), early religion in the shoals, and discussions on Florence, Tennessee and how close we came to being part of the Volunteer State in the early days before statehood.

Course Format: Lecture and Discussion • Course Leader: Mr. John Messamore
Course Time: Monday, 9:00-10:10 am • Course Dates: September 21 & 28, October 5 & 12

People & Their Stories
Participants will delve into the lives of ILR members and their friends. This course will include videos, slide shows or individual speakers telling their life stories.

Course Format: Video and Discussion • Course Leader: Mr. John Sworn
Course Dates: October 19 & 26, November 2 & 9
Course Time: Monday, 9:00-10:10 am

The Shoals: Past Present & Future
This semester’s schedule includes what’s exceptional, fascinating and wondrous about our Shoals - including the plans to celebrate its Bicentennial in 2018, the interesting history of canal-making in the Shoals that led to the construction of the Muscle Shoals Canal, the cultural and biological significance of mussels to the Shoals area and much more!

Course Format: Lecture & Discussion • Course Leader: Mr. Bill Matthews
Course Time: Monday, 10:35-11:45am

Around Town – Field Trips & Movies
Participants will visit local sites around the area with on-location short lectures from local experts. Author, journalist and music historian, Terry & Anita Pace will return to present two classic movies to the group.

Course Format: Field Trips(extra cost may be associated) & Video
Course Leader: Ms. Robin Armstrong • Course Time: Monday, 1:00 pm – until

Enjoying The Arts
Using DVDs from renowned musicologist and lecturer Robert Greenberg, the class will explore the fundamentals of music and the many genres of concert music, with the intention of increasing our understanding and enjoyment of the marvelous language of music. Two sessions will be presented by Roland Hauck & Marcia Byström from their archival presentation Arias & Songs From Then To Now.

Course Format: Video, Lecture & Discussion • Course Leader: Ms. Harriet Edwards
Course Time: Wednesday, 9:00-10:10am

The World Around Us – IFDC
Last semester we discussed the work of the International Fertilizer Development Center (IFDC) which recently celebrated its 40th anniversary. Located in the TVA reservation, IFDC grew from roots in TVA’s production of new fertilizers in the Shoals to evolve into a significant player in helping farmers and agribusinesses in the developing world to increase their productivity and incomes. This semester will complete the course that explores the work of IFDC and the opportunities and challenges of agricultural development. Presentations will include: the “Albania model” of agricultural input market development (which had to be re-scheduled due to weather); the drivers of economic development, with some examples from Latin America; progress and problems of agricultural development in sub-Saharan Africa, with attention on Kenya; and a wrap-up of IFDC at 40, with an example of work in Kyrgyzstan.

Course Format: Lecture & Discussion • Course Leader: Mr. Dan Waterman
Course Time: Wednesday, 10:35-11:45am
Course Dates: September 23 & 30, October 7 & 14

Science In Our Daily Lives
This series will explore topics in our day to day lives that are best appreciated through the lens of science, but are often regarded only as part of our surroundings. Topics will include an introduction to astronomy, the natural history of Alabama, and the astonishing role of technology in unraveling the mysteries within the life sciences.

Course Format: Lecture & Discussion • Course Leader: Dr. Bill Cale
Course Time: Wednesday, 10:35-11:45am
Course Dates: October 21 & 28, November 4 & 11

Great Books: Great Conversations IV
Participants will read and critically discuss in detail the following works from the Great Books: James’ Pragmatism: A New Name for Some Old Ways of Thinking; Shaw’s Major Barbara; Chekhov’s The Darling; Kawabata’s First Snow on Mount Fuji; Jackson’s The Lottery; Mueller’s Selected Poems; Lepesconte’s The Smallest Woman in the World and Proust’s Swann’s Way. Students must purchase their book at the time of enrollment at UNA East Campus ($30). Each reading will be discussed on its own merits in a small group setting. Required reading for the first class meeting: James’ Pragmatism: A New Name for Some Old Ways of Thinking

Course Format: Reading & Discussion • Course Leader: Ms. Joan Hudiburg
Course Time: Wednesday, 10:30-11:45am

The Joy of Opera
The Joy of Opera class will include operas, with English subtitles, presented on laser discs, DVDs and VHS tapes. Each opera will be preceded by brief comments on the performance. A summary of each opera will be provided. There will be a short break between acts for refreshments. A few operas scheduled to be shown include Der Freischütz by von Weber, La fille du régiment (The Daughter of the Regiment) by Donizetti and Pelléas and Mélisande by Maeterlinck.

Course Format: Video & Discussion • Course Leader: Dr. jacquie Osborne
Course Time: Wednesday, 1:00pm–until

The Skeptic’s Guide to American History
For most Americans, the history of the United States is built on a set of long-accepted beliefs about events, each of which resonates in the nation’s collective memory. But what if those beliefs—however familiar—don’t really tell the whole story? Our knowledge of history—or what we believe to be history—is the lens through which we view and interpret the world. And when that lens is distorted with misleading information, it has powerful effects on how we perceive the present and how we make decisions in the future, from choosing whom to vote for to interpreting the latest developments in today’s news and opinion pieces. To take a skeptical approach to American history is not to dabble in imaginative conspiracy theories or doubt the essence of the American experiment; rather, it’s to reframe your understanding of this great nation’s past and actually strengthen your appreciation for what makes American history such a fascinating chapter in the larger story of Western civilization. Sorting through misconceptions, myths, and half-truths about America’s past is also a chance to revisit some of the country’s greatest episodes, figures, and themes from a fresh perspective and an opportunity to hone the way you think about and interpret the past, the present, and even the future. In The Skeptic’s Guide to American History, you can do just that. This bold course examines many commonly held myths and half-truths about American history and prompts you to think about what really happened in the nation’s past—as opposed to what many believe happened. Delivered by award-winning scholar and Professor Mark A. Stoler of The University of Vermont, these lectures demonstrate how reconsidering some of the most popular notions of U.S. history can yield new (and sometimes startlingly different) interpretations of political, social, economic, and military events. But more than just debunking commonly accepted accounts, you’ll be able to replace these misconceptions with insightful truths.

Course Format: Video & Discussion • Course Leader: Ms. Jean Mammen
Course Time: Friday, 10:35 – 11:45 am
