Dear Alumni and Friends,

It is an honor and privilege for me to be asked to serve a second term as chair of the UNA Foundation Board of Directors. With a heart to serve others, a passion for UNA, and a deep commitment to UNA’s success, I look forward to working with our Board of Directors in empowering UNA to become all that it is capable of becoming.

On behalf of the UNA Foundation Board of Directors, I want to thank you for making a difference in the lives of our students, faculty, and staff through your generosity to UNA. Not only does your gift enable others to pursue the greatness that is within them, it also sends a message that you believe in them and all that they can become. With a very grateful heart, I thank you.

As we move forward, our goal remains steadfastly the same – to raise money to assist the University of North Alabama in reaching its full potential and in leading it to be the best choice a high school student can make to begin his or her college career. Together, we will accomplish this goal!

Again, thank you for your support, and Roar Lions!

Sincerely,
Harry Smith ’64
Chair, UNA Foundation Board of Directors
Dear UNA Family and Friends,

The Haslam family was blessed to join the UNA Family in June. From the moment we first set foot on this incredibly beautiful campus, we have been amazed by the remarkable, selfless people we have encountered and who have so warmly welcomed us. We are grateful to be a part of the UNA Family.

From afar, I was awed by the extraordinary generosity of the Alumni and Friends of UNA. Having been up close with many of you for a little more than six months now, I remain awed by your visionary leadership, humble hearts, unbreakable resolve, and giving spirit. There are not words to adequately express the level of gratitude I have for everyone who has given a gift of any amount to UNA. Please know that you are greatly valued and appreciated, and never doubt that every gift you give truly does make a difference.

I would be remiss if I didn’t briefly tell you about the incredible staff I found when I arrived at Rogers Hall. You will not find a greater collection of individuals, a team more fully committed to ensuring that your philanthropy does exactly what you want it to do, or a group who will work harder to empower the success of our students, faculty, and staff. To the UNA Advancement Family, my thanks for who you are and for all you do for this great University every day.

It is truly an honor for me to serve with you.

As we move forward, please know the UNA Advancement Family wants to know you; we are committed to connecting you to UNA in whatever manner is most meaningful to you, and we will always serve you any way we can. If you happen to be near campus, please stop by Rogers Hall. You are always wanted and welcome.

Kevin R. Haslam
Vice President for University Advancement
Executive Director, UNA Foundation

“Dena and I want to thank you personally for your continued support of the University of North Alabama. Exciting things are happening at the University, and our future is bright because of the generosity of our alumni and friends. We look forward to building on this momentum as we reach for the next level of excellence at UNA.”

— Kenneth D. Kitts
There’s a warmth about Jim and Sharon Harris that pervades their interactions with others. Fearing visitors to their remote home have lost their way, for instance, the couple head out in their truck in search of wayward guests. Upon arrival on a chilly fall day, the couple has prepared warm cider and delicious cookies for their new arrivals.

They are welcoming, generous, and genuine. It’s how they have lived their lives, and it’s how they raised their three children.

“I guess you could say they really didn’t have a choice,” Sharon Harris said. “We were raised to think of others first, and it had to have had an effect on our children.”

And when their youngest son, Daniel, passed away almost seven years ago, the spirit of giving wasn’t diminished. In fact, it was magnified in such a way that, today, five University of North Alabama students have benefitted from the endowed scholarship named after Daniel and specifically designated to those pursuing vocal performance degrees.
“Dan’s death was sudden,” Sharon said. Once he fell ill around the holidays in 2011, “he never regained consciousness. The day they had planned to remove him from the ventilator, he coded the night before. Dan was moved to [the University of Alabama at Birmingham], and, when we got there, it was to remove his life support. We never had a chance to speak to him about what he might have wanted, but we also knew there would be some life insurance and other monies. It became clear that we knew he would have wanted us to endow this for him.”

Meghan Raney of Florence is a senior who will graduate from UNA in May, and she is among those who have been named a Harris Scholar. It’s a gift she said she is humbled to receive, especially knowing the genesis of the scholarship.

“I knew Mr. and Mrs. Harris funded the scholarship after Daniel’s passing and that he was a singer,” Meghan said. “That means the world to me that this is in memory of someone who was so passionate about music. It makes me care about the scholarship and the music even more than I do, simply because I know that history. For his parents to have set those guidelines, and for me to have met them, is an incredible thing.”

Meghan is clear that the scholarship, which she has received during her junior and senior years, has allowed her to focus on her vocal performance degree and prepare her application for admissions into a Master’s degree program in the fall of 2020.

“I came from a non-musical background, and I got this [scholarship] in memory of someone,” she said. “I can’t put into words what that feels like and what it means to me. This sets me up for financial success and for personal success.”

Meghan recalled the day she learned she received the endowed scholarship via email. Just reading the words that she had been gifted so generously provided that boost to her confidence that she said she needed to take the next steps for her career.

“It was totally validating for me,” she said. “I didn’t get picked for a whole lot of things, and it’s because I don’t think my voice had flourished yet. Getting chosen to receive this scholarship was validating and confidence-boosting, and, during my junior year, I made a lot of breakthroughs. This scholarship is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.”

The Harris’ have been in touch with some of the scholarship recipients in the past; they meet the students occasionally as part of on-campus dinners and ceremonies. Hearing their stories and knowing their goals to pursue music as a career, as Daniel worked toward, ”makes it all worthwhile,” Jim said.

“One of the things that gives us the greatest amount of satisfaction is knowing that, 50 years from now, students will still benefit from this,” he said. “One life can, and has, touched so many other lives.”

Mikayla Thrasher, of Phil Campbell, is also set to graduate in May with a vocal performance degree, and hers is another life that has been positively affected by the Harris scholarship.

“I’ve never met them, but they’ve helped provide me with a way to continue my schooling and doing what I love,” Mikayla said. “They’ve done all of this, and they don’t even know me. It’s wild to me, and it really means a lot. Complete strangers are helping me out.”
Like Meghan, Mikayla is planning to attend graduate school next fall. She said she wants to continue performing and, eventually, pursue a doctoral degree that will allow her to teach voice and performance at the collegiate level. Further, she said UNA has prepared her for these next steps.

“Vocal studies are incredibly personal because I am the instrument,” Mikayla said. “These years of training have shown me that I’ve improved in tone, and, because I sing every day, the changes are gradual. It’s not unlike going to the gym because it’s a process. My professors tell me that it’s the process that’s so important to improvement.”

As she thinks ahead to a career in vocal performance, Mikayla considers the gift that has allowed her to pursue her dreams and goals.

“I have considered what giving back will look like,” she said. “As soon as I am able, I want to be able to share the gift that I have been given. It’s been a gift that’s allowed me not to have to worry about certain things and helped me stay in school and make good grades. I know that there are others who have struggled as much – and maybe more – than I have, whether financially or otherwise. As soon as I can, I want to be able to give back. Just to have the knowledge that I helped someone, even in the smallest way, get farther along their path would make me very happy.”

That is music to the Harris’s ears.

“It’s the kind of thing that we can say Dan had a big effect on this world, even though he only lived 30 years,” Sharon said. “We see giving to music as giving to something that promotes the spiritual growth of those who perform it and those who hear it. We want the gifts we give to promote spiritual growth, whether through music or healing.”

The couple liken it to the Butterfly Effect, which is the idea that a small change can result in very large differences in a later state.

“You know, it’s not just the scholars who are effected,” Sharon said. “But, as they make music, it will effect more and more lives and effect the way they interact with others.”

Jim agreed: “Music was Dan’s life, so I think he would be delighted.”

“And he loved people,” Sharon said. “I can just see him grin listening to these students perform, and I know it would just delight him. It would, no doubt, give him joy to hear them and know that he had a hand in helping them get through college.”
The Gift of Go and Do

CAIN, HUNT GIFT OPENS PATHWAYS FOR TRAVEL FOR OTHERS

By Michelle Rupe Eubanks ’96
For the Annual Report

If you’ve spent any time on the University of North Alabama campus, you’ve likely encountered Drs. Butler Cain and Andrea Hunt. Dr. Cain is the Chair of the Department of Communications as well as a Professor; he and his wife Dr. Hunt, the Director of the Mitchell-West Center for Social Inclusion and an Associate Professor of Sociology, have recently made a gift to the University.

After thoughtful deliberation about where and how they wanted their gift to be used, the two opted for a student support fund that would allow students opportunities to continue their educational experiences through travel to academic conferences. The two spoke about their gift and shared their thoughts on how travel has made all of the difference for them.
Question

Why now for this gift?
Was there anything that prompted your decision and timing?

Answer

We’ve always wanted to support students through planned giving, and now there’s much more flexibility in how we are able to do so at the University of North Alabama. So, the timing was right to contribute to the causes we’re passionate about, and we appreciate the University prioritizing the type of contribution we’re able to make.

Question

Why travel to academic conferences?
There are a number of opportunities, so what was so appealing about providing travel as an option?

Answer

(Andrea):
I wasn’t able to go to my first academic conference until I was a graduate student. That experience opened up networking opportunities and allowed me to see what it meant to be a scholar in my discipline. It’s important to be among a community of scholars, attend presentations, and see well-known people you’ve been reading about.

(Butler):
I have witnessed in real time how travel changes students’ perspectives. It’s educational and empowering. They begin considering new goals and possibilities for themselves, and traveling requires its own specific skill set. Helping students learn how to travel while giving them opportunities to represent their academic program is important to their professional development.
Question
How have you both benefitted from the generosity of others in your own academic experiences?

Answer
(Andrea):
I wouldn’t be where I am today without the generosity of others. My undergraduate experience was shaped by other people’s giving, both in terms of the time they invested in me and the financial help I received.

(Butler):
As an undergraduate, I was chosen for a scholarship that was named after a prominent local newspaper editor. That was a clear signal that my professors and academic program had expectations of me, and I wanted to live up to those.

Question
How would you encourage others to find a pathway to giving? What makes this meaningful to you?

Answer
We encourage people to have a conversation with colleagues in the Office of University Advancement to learn about the different ways you can give. Having those conversations with Interim Assistant Vice President Barbie Terry opened us up to a better understanding of what we were capable of giving, and she did a fantastic job showing us options. Even coming to campus and spending time here can give people ideas for supporting student development. We’re grateful for the people who have helped us on our academic journeys, and we want to honor their investments by investing in others.

“I chose to attend the University of North Alabama because it has a history with my family. My parents met on this campus, and I can still find their brick by the Victory Flame on campus. The new science building – the Mitchell Burford Science and Technology Building – also impressed me, and the facilities have not disappointed. They are top-notch and enhance the learning environment to help me succeed. By receiving this scholarship, I will be able to focus on my schoolwork without having to worry as much about going into debt. Thank you.”

“As a result of my scholarship, I will be able to supply the items I need for school. This includes books for my math and education courses, as well as materials for when I teach in the classroom during observations. After I earn my degree, I want to teach at a local middle or high school. I want to help students love math and feel accepted and respected. I want to work in the classroom in order to show students that you can do anything you want, you just have to try. Eventually, I’d love to return to UNA and earn my Masters in Mathematics. Thank you!”

"During my campus visit to the University of North Alabama, my parents and I were welcomed with open arms. The campus is beautiful and the perfect size for me. I was very impressed with the dual degree program and the class sizes. It allows me to develop relationships with my professors. Everyone on campus seems to care about the students. As a result of my scholarship, I will be able to continue working on and completing my dual degree program. This scholarship is greatly needed, and I am very grateful."

IS YOUR NAME MISSING?

The Honor Roll of Donors contains names of individuals who have made gifts to the University of North Alabama between October 1, 2018, and September 30, 2019. There could be several reasons that your name does not appear in what you believe to be the appropriate giving level—or not at all:

1. You made your gift either before October 1, 2018, or after September 30, 2019.
2. You gave more during this period than you realize: Your name may be in the next giving level.
3. You made a pledge instead of an outright gift. If you made a pledge between October 1, 2018, and September 30, 2019, but chose to begin fulfilling it after September 30, 2019, your name will not appear in this honor roll, which reflects only gifts received.
4. You are a corporate sponsor for Athletics and are recognized through advertisement opportunities.
5. You paid your Sportsman’s Club membership dues after January 1, 2018. Under the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (H.R.1), athletic contributions in exchange for the right to purchase tickets or preferred seating at a college or university athletic event cannot be counted as a charitable contribution.

If we omitted your name in error, we would like to hear from you. If you have questions or corrections, contact the Office of Donor Relations and Prospect Management at 256.765.4861.
Thank You
