Bonnie E. Smith named UNA Student Employee of the Year!

Bonnie is a Cinematic Arts major, minoring in Women’s Studies, Minor in Women’s Studies.

She currently maintains a 3.21 G.P.A. She has been employed with the Women’s Center since January 2019. Bonnie is a Certified Trained Peer Educator for the UNA Body Project and a member of the Women and Gender Studies Association and the American Association of University Women.

Her job duties include welcoming and assisting visitors, assisting with the publication of the Center for Women’s Studies monthly newsletter, answering phone calls, stocks and fills requests for items from “Pride’s Pantry”. Bonnie has assisted with all events including the Clothesline Project, the Center’s leadership conference, “Tunnel of Oppression”, and “Women in the Workplace & the World”, Equal Pay Day and These Hands Don't Hurt. Dr. Lynne Rieff, Center for Women's Studies Director and Bonnie’s supervisor states, “Bonnie relates well with others, empathetic, efficient and hard-working. She is always at the Women's Center when needed, and her favorite response is "I've got your back."

Bonnie is truly a treasure!”