The University of North Alabama has established a new degree program in Interdisciplinary Studies that offers flexible options designed to meet the needs of people seeking to balance their studies with other important responsibilities. As you consider the future of your education and career, consider how UNA's Bachelor of Interdisciplinary Studies (BIS) degree may help you meet your goals for today and tomorrow.

Features of the INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES (BIS) Degree Program at UNA include:

- Flexible and individualized path of academic studies not currently reflected in a traditional major
- Convenient scheduling of many online courses offered across disciplines
- Opportunity to develop adaptable skills that can be applied in the changing job market
- Affordable tuition at UNA that is among the lowest in the state
- Qualified faculty and staff eager to help students

A BIS degree presents a unique educational experience to help those seeking improvement in valuable skills such as writing, public speaking, personnel administration, research design and analysis, computer applications, and intergovernmental relations. With a BIS degree in hand, you will gain a competitive edge in today's changing job market!

DEGREE OPTIONS

OPTION 1, a flexible and individualized program of study based on academic and career interests in one of seven areas of emphasis

OPTION 2, an applied entrepreneurship option that allows students to apply approved technical coursework to the BIS degree program.

This is an opportunity to develop a synthesized knowledge base from courses offered across disciplines and to apply that knowledge in productive ways. The BIS degree offers a flexible and individualized program of study in one of seven Areas of Emphasis:

- Arts
- Business
- Health
- Humanities
- Social and Behavioral Sciences
- Technology
- Women's Studies
