Part 3: Supporting Documents

For each account listed in Part 2, include an original financial statement or unaltered scan of the original document. Acceptable documents must meet the following standard:

1. A financial statement on official stationery must be submitted from a bank or other financial institution where the student or sponsor has accounts containing readily available funds, for example, savings accounts or investment accounts.
2. Financial statements must be a clear and legible original document or unaltered scan of the original document.
3. Financial statements must be in English or include an English translation.
4. Each statement must include the name of the financial institution, the name of the account holder, the account number, the amount of available funds, the currency type of those funds and a date within six months.
5. Pension, retirement, and mortgage funds, income tax statements or returns, proof of property ownership, and letters stating that the student or the sponsor possesses "sufficient financial resources" or "earns enough" are NOT acceptable as evidence of readily available funds.
6. If the financial statements are from a privately-owned business, the sponsor must have legal authority to spend business funds for personal discretion. A document showing legal authority over the business must be included with other documents.
7. If the sponsor is residing in the United States, a Form I-134 should also be submitted.

Part 5: Sponsor Agreement

1. I agree to pay all expenses for the student. My sponsorship includes, but is not limited to, tuition, fees, books, health insurance, room and board, and travel expenses. I have attached financial statement(s) to show that I have sufficient financial resources to cover the first academic year of such expenses. Refer to page 3 for more detailed information.

	Undergraduate	Graduate	Academic English Program
Full Expenses (no scholarship)	$36,000 USD	$31,500 USD	$24,308 USD
After Academic Scholarship	$23,000 USD	$25,000 USD	Not eligible

2. I understand my sponsorship is not provided only for the admission requirements, for the Form I-20/DS-2019, or for a US visa application. I have the honest intention to provide this sponsorship as soon as the student arrives in the United States.
3. I understand that full-time enrollment is the most important responsibility of an F-1/J-1 student and failure to maintain full-time enrollment will cause the student to lose F-1/J-1 status within days. Payments must be made according to University deadlines to avoid disenrollment for failure to pay.
4. I understand that my sponsorship must continue for the duration of the student's studies, which will be a period of multiple years.

Funding and Scholarships

Scholarships from the Office of International Affairs

Undergraduate Recruitment Scholarships awards $10,000 for the first year of studies. It is available for on-campus students. Terms apply.

Graduate Recruitment Scholarships awards $7,000 for the first year of studies. It is available for on-campus students. Terms apply.

The Global Learning Community Housing Scholarship is applied to housing charges in eligible university residences and saves a student more than $3,000 annually. Limited quantities available. Terms apply.

Scholarships from Other University Sources

Student receiving graduate assistantships, athletic scholarships or substantial scholarship awards from academic departments are not eligible for international student academic scholarships. In some circumstances, these students can receive the GLC Housing Scholarship. Graduate assistantships, athletic scholarships, and other awards may not cover all expenses for study and living expenses at UNA or meet the Estimated Expenses. All students must comply with the financial requirements for the F-1 and J-1 programs and will be responsible for providing proof of funds for amounts not covered by UNA-provided sources.

Graduate assistantships, athletic scholarships, and other scholarship awards from academic departments are NOT provided by the Office of International Affairs. Students can contact the respective departments or program to inquire about opportunities.

Employment in the United States

F-1 and J-1 students are eligible for on-campus employment while maintaining status. After completion of on-campus orientation requirements, students may begin applying. On-campus jobs take time to obtain. The process of application, authorization and waiting for a government-issued social security number can take five to six weeks and often takes longer. The pay scale for on-campus work is modest, and hours are limited by law to 20 per week while courses are in session. For these reasons, income from on-campus employment will not be sufficient to pay for the cost of the Estimated Expenses. Students are advised not to base funding on financial support from on-campus employment.

Off-campus employment and internships while in the USA in F-1 and J-1 status are strictly limited by legal regulations and only permitted with written authorization. It is a violation of U.S. Department of Homeland Security regulations for international students to be employed off-campus or to participate in an internship without first obtaining written work authorization. For these reasons, students are advised not to base funding on financial support from off-campus employment or internships.
