If you have asked any of these questions, then you might need some assistance in writing a college paper. Located below are some helpful links to sites such as Turnitin.com and the UNA Center for Writing Excellence. Your professor will have specific requirements for the paper, so pay close attention to the requirements and ASK QUESTIONS. It is highly recommended to make an appointment with the UNA Writing Center to be sure that you have correctly written and formatted your paper. The UNA Writing Center services are free to enrolled students.

To make an appointment at the UNA Writing Center, please use this link.

If you have to submit your paper online, there are many ways to do so. If using a website like Turnitin.com, there are many steps to take in order to submit your paper correctly. Those directions are listed below. You might also be asked to submit your paper on Canvas. If submitting on Canvas, there is typically a link/dropbox located at the bottom of the assignment page.

Purdue OWL

- APA Format
- MLA Format
- Chicago Manual Style

UNA Center for Writing Excellence

- Research assistance
- How to organize a paper

Turnitin.com

- Make an account using this link.
- Enroll in a class. Your professor will give you the information.
- The assignment will appear on the class page.
- Submit your paper.

Citation Machine

- Citation Machine will give the correct citation for your paper (APA, MLA, Chicago, etc.)
- Go to citationmachine.net and select the format of your paper.
- Select the type of source you are citing.
- Enter information about the source (title, author, date of publishing, etc.).
- Click "Create Citation".
- The citation will appear the way it should be typed.

Plagiarism

- What is plagiarism? Plagiarism is using someone else's words, thoughts, or ideas as your own and not giving that person credit.
- If you use anything from a book, website, newspaper, magazine, or lecture, CITE THE SOURCE.
- If there is any question whether a source should be cited, go ahead and cite it.
- For more information, visit this site.