I also love to run, train and work with clients at the gym and am looking forward to helping are kids stay fit this summer!

LARRY MILLER After "picking at the guitar" most of his life, Larry Miller started making a serious study of playing the guitar about 15 years ago. His love of finger style guitar and his frustration of trying to learn to play on his own led him in search of teachers to help make sense of the guitar. During this time he has studied under Jerry Miller (Guitar Teacher in Decatur, AL), Mrs. Margarita de Quesada (Classical Teacher in Decatur, AL), Craig Dobbins (Acoustic Work Shop www.craigdobbins.com/Gadsden,AL), weekend seminar with John Knowles (Arranger and "right hand man" for Chet Atkins www.johnknowles.com/) and with Scott Todd (guitarist for Lenny Le Blanc). Having struggled to learn to play the guitar himself, Larry has refined the fundamentals of learning into a non-intimidating learning system that is unique and easy to grasp for those struggling with learning to play the guitar. He has put together the knowledge of many teachers to help new students overcome common problems and obstacles to learning to play the guitar well. For the last four years, Larry has used his knowledge to teach students guitar and mandolin at Alabama Music in Florence Alabama.

CHEF JOHNSON OGUN is an accomplished Chef and university instructor with a strong combination of culinary experience and management skills coupled with instructional experience. He is a results-driven and highly motivated professional with exceptional leadership skills. Being knowledgeable of both front and back of the house operation in the hospitality industry, he is an excellent instructor who motivates students. As a culinary professional, Chef Ogun consistently meets or exceeds company goals and objectives.

ETIQUETTE CAMP FOR TEENS

Young adults will spend the week learning a variety of etiquette skills to enhance their lives as they transition through high school, college, and into the professional world. They will be polished and prepared for the versatility needed to stand out in a crowd. Examples of topics covered include letter and résumé writing, professional grooming standards, proper table manners, expressing gratitude, communication skills, and electronic etiquette. Students will work on etiquette exercises independently and as a group. This camp promises to help your child solidify the building blocks to being a well-rounded and mature young adult. This is a modern and fresh perspective to help your child achieve the professional confidence they need. For the third year in a row, Faith Landers Woods will lead the camp. Faith is a Certified Etiquette and Protocol Consultant with a license from The Protocol School of Washington. She was recently featured in the No'Ala Wedding Issue for her etiquette expertise. Notable clients include Marriott Hotels, The Miss Alabama System, and numerous colleges across the state. Supplies, snacks, and drinks provided.

SO YOU WANT TO BE A STAR

The UNA Department of Entertainment Industry (DEI) faculty and local music industry professionals present a one-week crash course in careers in the music business. This course will include instruction on how the music business works as well as a fun project learning how to write and produce music and being a part of seeing a song all the way through writing, producing and having it performed. Local musicians and faculty from the DEI will mentor your assigned group from start to finish. Your group's performance for family and friends will be held on Friday evening in the Mane Room, the DEI's performance venue. Students of all skill and experience levels with music will benefit from getting up close and personal with pros. UNA offers a Bachelor of Science Degree in Entertainment Industry so this is the perfect opportunity to see what DEI is like and if you may want to go further with us when college rolls around.

MIND YOUR BUSINESS UNA SUMMER BUSINESS ACADEMY

If you are currently in the 9th, 10th, or 11th grade, you can earn 3 hours of college credit and learn about business majors in only two weeks this June at UNA. There are no textbooks to buy and no tests to take when you participate in the Summer Business Academy course, MG

100: Introduction to Business. You'll have lots of business and UNA related learning activities, exposure to UNA business faculty and current students from each department, and field trips to small, large, and non-profit businesses as well as the Shoals Entrepreneurial Center. Students will also work in teams to develop a business concept and present it on the last day of class.

We designed this program for high school students who want to explore business as a major in college or who just want to earn some elective credit. The two weeks are full of fun and the experience is an excellent way to get a taste of college. The UNA College of Business is excited to offer our Summer Business Academy this June to area high school students. Enrollment is limited, so register early! Please see your school counselor for full details and to complete an Early College registration form.
