

TRAINING MATERIALS

Facilitating Fair and Effective Informal Resolution Processes Under Title IX

Fall 2020

Facilitating Fair and Effective Informal Resolution Processes Under Title IX

Module 1: Introduction and Overview

Peter Lake

Professor of Law, Charles A. Dana Chair, and Director of the Center for Excellence in Higher Education Law and Policy
Stetson University College of Law

Kristine Goodwin M.Ed., J.D.

Associate of The Registry, CPR Distinguished Neutrals, MWI, Inc.,
and Unmas Justice Bridge

1

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

What are the regulatory requirements regarding “informal resolution” under Title IX?

3

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

From the commentary...

The Department believes an explicit definition of “informal resolution” in the final regulations is unnecessary. Informal resolution may encompass a broad range of conflict resolution strategies, including, but not limited to, arbitration, mediation, or restorative justice. Defining this concept may have the unintended effect of limiting parties’ freedom to choose the resolution option that is best for them, and recipient flexibility to craft resolution processes that serve the unique educational needs of their communities.

Id. at 30401.

2

From the Commentary...

Informal resolution may present a way to resolve sexual harassment allegations in a less adversarial manner than the investigation and adjudication procedures that comprise the § 106.45 grievance process.

Department of Education, Non-discrimination on the Basis of Sex in Education Programs or Activities Receiving Federal Financial Assistance, 85 Fed. Reg. 30205 (May 19, 2020) (final rule) (online at www.govinfo.gov/content/pkg/FR-2020-05-19/pdf/2020-10512.pdf) at 30208.

4

§ 106.45(b)(9) Informal resolution.

A recipient may not require as a condition of enrollment or continuing enrollment, or employment or continuing employment, or enjoyment of any other right, waiver of the right to an investigation and adjudication of formal complaints of sexual harassment consistent with this section. [A] recipient may not require the parties to participate in an informal resolution process under this section and may not offer an informal resolution process unless a formal complaint is filed.

(emphasis added)

5

6

§ 106.45(b)(9) Cont'd

[A]t any time prior to reaching a determination regarding responsibility the recipient may facilitate an informal resolution process, such as mediation, that does not involve a full investigation and adjudication . . .

7

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

§ 106.45(b)(9)(ii-iii)

- (ii) Obtains the parties' voluntary, written consent to the informal resolution process; and
- (iii) Does not offer or facilitate an informal resolution process to resolve allegations that an employee sexually harassed a student.

(emphasis added)

9

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Points on Informal Resolution

- The new regulations don't require it, but informal resolution is allowed.
- A formal complaint must be filed before any informal resolution process can begin.
- Both parties must voluntarily agree to informal resolution (written consent required). [No coercion or undue influence.]
- No "informed" consent standard as such, other than information required by regulations.
- Parties do not have to be in the same room...often, they are not.
- Equitable implementation by trained personnel

11

§ 106.45(b)(9)(i) (Written Notice)

Parties must be provided written notice that outlines

- The allegations
- The requirements of the informal resolution process including the circumstances under which it precludes the parties from resuming a formal complaint arising from the same allegations, provided, however, that at any time prior to agreeing to a resolution, any party has the right to withdraw from the informal resolution process and resume the grievance process with respect to the formal complaint
- any consequences resulting from participating in the informal resolution process, including the records that will be maintained or could be shared

(emphasis and bullets added)

8

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

From the commentary...

Because informal resolution is only an option, and is never required, under the final regulations, the Department does not believe that § 106.45(b)(9) presents conflict with other Federal or State laws or practices concerning resolution of sexual harassment allegations through mediation or other alternative dispute resolution processes.

Id. at 30404.

(emphasis added)

10

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Points on Informal Resolution

- Should you offer it?
 - Pros/Cons
 - Increased complainant autonomy
 - Training of personnel is required under the new regulations
- Who should implement?
- What type of training is needed?
 - Mediation? Arbitration? Restorative justice?
- When can't we use informal resolution?
 - When the allegation is that an employee sexually harassed a student.
- Does this option provide for more opportunities for "educational" interventions?
- What does this look like in practice?

12

What types of informal resolution exist?
What are the range of options available to institutions?

13

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Important Considerations

15

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

When is it inappropriate to use informal resolution processes?

§ 106.45(b)(9)(iii) [N]ot offer or facilitate an informal resolution process to resolve allegations that an employee sexually harassed a student.

Informal Resolution Options

- Educational Conferences
- Mediation (Neutral, Facilitative, Collaborative)
- Med-Arb (Mediation and Arbitration, Non-Binding Arbitration)
- Restorative Justice
- Collaborative Law Model

[Each of these will be discussed more in-depth in the next module.]

14

Who can implement informal resolutions on your campus?

- Title IX Coordinator
- Dean of Students
- Student Conduct
- Campus Ombudsperson
- Outside Entity/Third Party/Trained Mediators
- Other options....

16

Important Questions

- Who are “impacted Individuals” under Title IX?
- How do informal processes support culture and climate work on campus?
- How do informal processes relate to other, more formalized processes such as bias and incident response processes?
- Budget impacts/size and nature of an institution?
- What are the intersections among advisors, investigators and decision-makers?

17

18

What type of training and skills do informal resolution tasked personnel need?

19

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Posting Training Materials to Your Website

"All materials used to train Title IX personnel:

- Must not rely on sex stereotypes,
- Must promote impartial investigations and adjudications of formal complaints of sexual harassment,
- Must be maintained by the school for at least 7 years,
- Must be publicly available on the school's website; if the school does not maintain a website the school must make the training materials available upon request for inspection by members of the public."

"Schools must publish training materials that are up to date and reflect the latest training provided to Title IX personnel."

"If a school's current training materials are copyrighted or otherwise protected as proprietary business information (for example, by an outside consultant), the school still must comply with the Title IX Rule. This may mean that the school has to secure permission from the copyright holder to publish the training materials on the school's website."

U.S. Dept. of Educ. Office for Civil Rights, Blog (May 18, 2020),
<https://www2.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ocr/blog/20200518.html> (emphasis added).

21

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

$106.44(a) General response to sexual harassment.

A recipient with actual knowledge of sexual harassment in an education program or activity of the recipient against a person in the United States, must respond promptly in a manner that is not deliberately indifferent. . . .
"education program or activity" includes locations, events, or circumstances over which the recipient exercised substantial control over both the respondent and the context in which the sexual harassment occurs, and also includes any building owned or controlled by a student organization that is officially recognized by a postsecondary institution.

What does your campus policy state specifically regarding the scope of "education programs or activities?"

(emphasis added)

23

Training Mandates Specific to the New Regulations

"Schools must ensure that Title IX personnel [Title IX Coordinator, any investigator, any decision-maker, and any person who facilitates an informal resolution (such as mediation)] receive training as follows:

- On Title IX's definition of "sexual harassment"
- On the scope of the school's education program or activity
- On how to conduct an investigation and grievance process
- On how to serve impartially, including by avoiding prejudgment of the facts at issue
- On how to avoid conflicts of interest and bias
- Decision-makers must receive training on any technology to be used at a live hearing, and on issues of relevance of questions and evidence, including when questions and evidence about a complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior are not relevant
- Investigators must receive training on issues of relevance to create an investigative report that fairly summarizes relevant evidence"

U.S. Dept. of Educ. Office for Civil Rights, Blog (May 18, 2020),
<https://www2.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ocr/blog/20200518.html>

20

Title IX's definition of "sexual harassment"

[Three-Prong Test]

Sexual harassment means conduct on the basis of sex that satisfies one or more of the following:

- (1) An employee of the recipient conditioning the provision of an aid, benefit, or service of the recipient on an individual's participation in unwelcome sexual conduct;
- (2) Unwelcome conduct determined by a reasonable person to be so severe, pervasive, and objectively offensive that it effectively denies a person equal access to the recipient's education program or activity; or
- (3) "Sexual assault" as defined in 20 U.S.C. 1092(f)(6)(A)(v), "dating violence" as defined in 34 U.S.C. 12291(a)(10), "domestic violence" as defined in 34 U.S.C. 12291(a)(8), or "stalking" as defined in 34 U.S.C. 12291(a)(30).

22

Example of "Scope" in a Policy

This policy applies to ABC University students, employees, and third-parties located within the United States both on and off campus, as well as in the digital realm. Off-campus coverage of this policy is limited to incidents that occur on employee-led trips, at internship or service learning sites, and college-owned properties (including buildings operated by Registered Student Organizations), or in any context where the University exercised substantial control over both alleged harassers and the context in which the alleged harassment occurred.

Scope will be specific to an institution.

24

Desirable skills and knowledge bases

- Active listening skills (e.g. paying attention, withholding judgment, reflecting, clarifying, paraphrasing, and summarizing.)
- Legal training
- Prior ADR experience
- Operational knowledge and experience in higher education
- Comfortable with TIX subject matter
- Bias/Implicit bias training
- Knowledge regarding campus policies/cultures
- Understanding of relevant objective standards

25

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Never Claim to Have More Skills or Expertise Than You Actually Have

- "Ultra Vires"
 - Latin meaning act without authority or literally beyond powers. This term is frequently used in business and agency law (the Doctrine of Ultra Vires). An ultra virus act occurs when one commits an act that is beyond the powers or purpose of an individual and/or organization. (<https://dictionary.thelaw.com/ultra-vires>)
- "Intra Vires"
 - An act is said to be intra vires ("within the power") of a person or organization when it is within the scope of their powers or authority. It is the opposite of ultra vires. (<https://dictionary.thelaw.com/intra-vires>)
- Mental Health Providers, Lawyers, Trained/Certified Mediators are professional trades that require specialized training and are often regulated by federal and/or state requirements, professional organizations, and individual institutions.

27

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Additional Resources

- American Bar Association (ABA) Section of Dispute Resolution
 - Preparing for Family Mediation (https://www.americanbar.org/content/dam/aba/images/dispute_resolution/Mediation_Guide_Family.pdf)
- Mediate.com Mediate University
 - Basic 40-hour Mediation: This training which satisfies most state and court basic mediation requirements. It is approved for 40 hours of continuing mediation credit in Washington state and 40 hours of CLE credit in California—and reciprocity in many other states. Upon completion of the course, the participant will receive a Certificate of Completion. (<https://www.mediateuniversity.com>)
- JAMS Solutions for Higher Education
 - Title IX Hearing Officers & Mediators | Staff & Faculty Dispute Resolution & Prevention | ADR Training & System Design (<https://www.jamsadr.com/solutions>)
- MWI.org
 - All of MWI's Forty-Hour Mediation Training Programs (both the weekday and weekends/weeknights options) are currently being offered online and live via Zoom. (<https://www.mwi.org/mediation-training/>)
- American Psychological Association (APA)
 - Ensuring that investigations of campus sexual misconduct are reflective of psychological science: APA helped draft, and has endorsed, legislation that would minimize re-traumatization from campus sexual misconduct investigations. Date created: September 4, 2020 (<https://www.apa.org/search>)
- Etc.

29

Cross-training

- Cross-train with other disciplines
- Build credentials
- Other NASPA training programs
- Education Credentials
- Training in ADR in other contexts (e.g. Family Court)
- Other civil rights metrics
- Read, read, and read some more

26

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Bias, Conflicts of Interest, Impartiality, etc.

All Title IX personnel, including those implementing and/or facilitating informal resolution processes, should serve in their roles impartially.

All Title IX personnel should avoid:

- prejudgment of facts
- prejudice
- conflicts of interest
- bias
- sex stereotypes

28

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Conclusion

30

Final thoughts...

- Flexibility
- "Tuning"
- Stay within skill set
- How "formal" is your "informal" process?
- Language/What will you call your process?
- What are some lessons learned from analogous fields?

31

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Facilitating Fair and Effective Informal Resolution Processes Under Title IX

Module 2: Developing Informal Processes for Your Campus

Peter Lake

Professor of Law, Charles A. Dana Chair, and Director of the Center for Excellence in Higher Education Law and Policy
Stetson University College of Law

Kristin Goodwin M.Ed., J.D.

Associate of The Registry, CPR Distinguished Neutrals, MWI, Inc., and Umass Justice Bridge

Thank you!

Assessment to follow...

32

From the commentary accompanying the new Title IX regulations...

The Department believes an explicit definition of "informal resolution" in the final regulations is unnecessary. Informal resolution may encompass a broad range of conflict resolution strategies, including, but not limited to, arbitration, mediation, or restorative justice. Defining this concept may have the unintended effect of limiting parties' freedom to choose the resolution option that is best for them, and recipient flexibility to craft resolution processes that serve the unique educational needs of their communities.

Department of Education, Nondiscrimination on the Basis of Sex in Education Programs or Activities Receiving Federal Financial Assistance, 85 Fed. Reg. 30323 (May 15, 2020) (final rule) (online at www.govinfo.gov/content/pkg/FR-2020-05-15/pdf/2020-10151.pdf) at 30402 (emphasis added).

33

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

A Closer Look at Specific Ways to Facilitate Effective Informal Resolutions

Informal Resolution Options

- Educational Conferences
- Mediation (Neutral, Facilitative, Collaborative)
- Med-Arb (Mediation and Arbitration, Non-Binding Arbitration)
- Restorative Justice
- Collaborative Law Model

35

36

Educational Conferences

- Concept in Beyond Discipline (2009)
- Can be called by a student, RSO, staff or faculty member
- Opportunity to have a conversation about anything
- How could ed conferences be adapted for Title IX?
- How campuses utilize educational conferences: Two examples

Univ. of Central Missouri

"Conduct Educators" and "Educational Conferences"

"The primary tool of the Conduct Educator is the opportunity for an "Educational Conference" with the student. When the University becomes aware of a student who may not be meeting the expectations of good decision-making (usually through an academic alert from faculty, public safety report, or housing report), then the student will be contacted (generally by email) to schedule an Educational Conference."

Univ. of Central Missouri, UCM Student Handbook: Your Guide to Good Decision-Making, at 9.

37

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Univ. of Central Missouri Cont'd

"An Educational Conference might also be required if university personnel identify a pattern of behaviors or decisions that illustrate poor decision-making or potential risk. A student may also request an Educational Conference if there is a concern they would like to discuss. An Educational Conference may also be required in order to help UCM staff prevent a foreseeable negative event. For example, if staff become aware that students have planned a large and potentially risky party, those students might be required to meet with a Conduct Educator to discuss how they plan to manage that event and minimize the risk to attendees."

The Educational Conference should be viewed as an opportunity for a student to clarify their decision-making process and, in the case of poor judgment, take responsibility for correcting that error. The Educational Conference is designed to be a civil but critical examination of the student's decision-making process and direct discussion of choices the student has made. This process is only effective if a student participates openly, respectfully and honestly. Deception and incivility reduce the ability of the Conduct Educator to assist the student in evaluating the educational purposefulness of their choices and will not be tolerated."

Univ. of Central Missouri, UCM Student Handbook: Your Guide to Good Decision-Making, at 10.

38

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Tulane University

"The educational conference is an important instructional tool at Tulane University, and students and student organizations should expect to participate in this process. When the University becomes aware of a student who may not be meeting the core values and expectations of a Tulane University student and/or may have violated Tulane Code Rules (excluding sexual assault), the Office of Student Conduct or their designee, often Residence Life or Campus Life, can choose to resolve this concern through an educational conference instead of the more formal resolution process.

The educational conference is an opportunity for a student or organization to discuss critical decisions and options or to take responsibility for correcting any error in judgment. The educational conference may feature critical examination of a student's or organization's decision-making and a discussion of choices the student or organization has made. It is also proactive, allowing staff to speak with students about worrisome patterns of behavior or to prevent foreseeable negative outcomes, like discussions of risk management for events. It can also be an opportunity for students to share concern for other members of the community, to discover resources, to seek mentorship and guidance, and so on."

Tulane Univ., Code of Student Conduct, at 8 – 9.

39

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Tulane University Cont'd

"There are many potential outcomes in an educational conference. In some situations, a student or organization may be asked to agree to a learning action plan. A learning action plan may feature some of the consequences outlined in the section of this Code designated "Consequences," other than suspension or expulsion or revocation of recognition of a group. It is the responsibility of the student to complete this learning action plan in the manner and timeframe determined by the conduct officer.

Sometimes during an educational conference it becomes clear that a situation would be better addressed through a more formal process, such as an administrative hearing, student hearing panel or investigation. The conduct officer has the discretion to end the educational conference in lieu of these other processes."

Tulane Univ., Code of Student Conduct, at 9.

40

What is arbitration?

- The submission of a dispute to an unbiased third person designated by the parties to the controversy, who agree in advance to comply with the award—a decision to be issued after a hearing at which both parties have an opportunity to be heard.
- Arbitration is a well-established and widely used means to end disputes. It is one of several kinds of Alternative Dispute Resolution which provides parties to a controversy with a choice other than litigation. Unlike litigation, arbitration takes place out of court: the two sides select an impartial third party, known as an arbitrator; agree in advance to comply with the arbitrator's award; and then participate in a hearing at which both sides can present evidence and testimony. The arbitrator's decision is usually final and courts rarely reexamine it.
- Arbitration can be voluntary or required. [Except on a college campus, for Title IX purposes, informal resolution cannot be required.]

<https://legal-dictionary.thefreedictionary.com/arbitration>

41

42

What is mediation?

Mediation, as used in law, is a form of alternative dispute resolution resolving disputes between two or more parties with concrete effects. Typically, a third party, the mediator, assists the parties to negotiate a settlement. Disputants may mediate disputes in a variety of domains, such as commercial, legal, diplomatic, workplace, community, and family matters.

"Neutrals"

Campus "Ombudsperson"?

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mediation>

43

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

What is mediation? Cont'd

The mediator uses a wide variety of techniques to guide the process in a constructive direction and to help the parties find their optimal solution. A mediator is facilitative in that she/he manages the interaction between parties and facilitates open communication. Mediation is also evaluative in that the mediator analyzes issues and relevant norms ("reality-testing"), while refraining from providing prescriptive advice to the parties (e.g., "You should do...").

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mediation>

45

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

What is mediation? Cont'd

Mediators use various techniques to open, or improve, dialogue and empathy between disputants, aiming to help the parties reach an agreement. Much depends on the mediator's skill and training. As the practice gained popularity, training programs, certifications, and licensing followed, which produced trained and professional mediators committed to the discipline.

- JAMS
- American Arbitration Association (AAA)
- American Bar Association, ADR Section
- Association for Conflict Resolution (ACR)
- CPR Institute for Dispute Resolution
- National Association for Community Mediation

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mediation>

47

What is mediation? Cont'd

Mediation is a dynamic, structured, interactive process where an impartial third party assists disputing parties in resolving conflict through the use of specialized communication and negotiation techniques. All participants in mediation are encouraged to actively participate in the process. Mediation is a "party-centered" process in that it is focused primarily upon the needs, rights, and interests of the parties.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mediation>

44

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

What is mediation? Cont'd

The term "mediation" broadly refers to any instance in which a third party helps others reach an agreement. More specifically, mediation has a structure, timetable, and dynamics that "ordinary" negotiation lacks. The process is private and confidential, possibly enforced by law. Participation is typically voluntary. The mediator acts as a neutral third party and facilitates rather than directs the process. Mediation is becoming a more peaceful and internationally accepted solution to end the conflict. Mediation can be used to resolve disputes of any magnitude.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mediation>

46

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

What is med-arb?

A form of arbitration in which the arbitrators starts as a mediator but in the event of a failure of mediation, the arbitrator imposes a binding decision.

Duhame's Law Dictionary, Med-Arb Definition: <http://www.duhame.org/LegalDictionary/M/MedArb.aspx>

48

Med-arb Cont'd

"[T]he essence of med-arb is to allow a softer mediation process to occur first thus taking every opportunity of achieving a resolution to a dispute which is not imposed and to which each party to the dispute subscribes voluntarily.

In this initial phase, the presiding neutral third-party acts as a mediator and coaches or encourages the parties towards a settlement taking into account the information received from both at a mediation hearing.

Med/arb motivates the participants at the mediation given the shadow of the hammer of med/arb: the transformation, if mediation fails, of the process to arbitration. At that point, the presiding officer, now sitting as an arbitrator and no longer as a mediator, is enabled to proceed as if the hearing was one of arbitration and to impose a resolution, a final and binding award, generally relying on the information presented during the mediation hearing."

Duhaime's Law Dictionary, Med-Arb Definition, <http://www.duhaime.org/LegalDictionary/M/MedArb.aspx>.

49

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Restorative Justice

Theories about its effectiveness include:

- The offender has to learn about the harm they have caused to their victim, making it hard for them to justify their behavior.
- It offers a chance to discuss moral development to offenders who may have had little of it in their life.
- Offenders are more likely to view their punishment as legitimate.
- The programs tend to avoid shaming and stigmatizing the offender.

Many restorative justice systems, especially victim-offender mediation and family group conferencing, require participants to sign a confidentiality agreement. These agreements usually state that conference discussions will not be disclosed to nonparticipants. The rationale for confidentiality is that it promotes open and honest communication.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Restorative_justice

(internal citation omitted)

51

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

From the commentary accompanying the new Title IX regulations...

Therefore, the language limiting the availability of an informal resolution process only to a time period before there is a determination of responsibility does not prevent a recipient from using the process of restorative justice under § 106.45(b)(9), and a recipient has discretion under this provision to specify the circumstances under which a respondent's admission of responsibility while participating in a restorative justice model would, or would not, be used in an adjudication if either party withdraws from the informal process and resumes the formal grievance process.

Id. at 30406 (emphasis added).

53

What is restorative justice?

A restorative justice program aims to get offenders to take responsibility for their actions, to understand the harm they have caused, to give them an opportunity to redeem themselves and to discourage them from causing further harm. For victims, its goal is to give them an active role in the process and to reduce feelings of anxiety and powerlessness. Restorative justice is founded on an alternative theory to the traditional methods of justice, which often focus on retribution. However, restorative justice programs can complement traditional methods.

Academic assessment of restorative justice is positive. Most studies suggest it makes offenders less likely to reoffend. A 2007 study also found that it had the highest rate of victim satisfaction and offender accountability of any method of justice. Its use has seen worldwide growth since the 1990s. Restorative justice inspired and is part of the wider study of restorative practices.

How can it be used in Title IX/sexual misconduct?

Koss MP, Wilgus JK, Williamsen KM. Campus Sexual Misconduct: Restorative Justice Approaches to Enhance Compliance With Title IX Guidance. Trauma Violence Abuse. 2014;15(3):242-257. doi:10.1177/1524838014521500

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Restorative_justice

(internal citations omitted)

50

From the commentary accompanying the new Title IX regulations...

With respect to the implications of restorative justice and the recipient reaching a determination regarding responsibility, the Department acknowledges that generally a critical feature of restorative justice is that the respondent admits responsibility at the start of the process. However, this admission of responsibility does not necessarily mean the recipient has also reached that determination, and participation in restorative justice as a type of informal resolution must be a voluntary decision on the part of the respondent.

Id. at 30406 (emphasis added).

52

From the commentary accompanying the new Title IX regulations...

Similarly, a recipient could use a restorative justice model after a determination of responsibility finds a respondent responsible; nothing in the final regulations dictates the form of disciplinary sanction a recipient may or must impose on a respondent.

Id. at 30406 (emphasis added).

54

Restorative Justice Resources Cited in the Commentary to the New Title IX Regulations

Clare McGlynn et al., "I just wanted him to hear me": Sexual violence and the possibilities of restorative justice, 39 Journal of L. & Society 2 (2012).

Katherine Mangan, Why More Colleges Are Trying Restorative Justice in Sex Assault Cases, Chronicle of Higher Education (Sept. 17, 2018).

Kerry Cardoza, Students Push for Restorative Approaches to Campus Sexual Assault, Truthout (Jun. 30, 2018).

Howard Zehr, The Little Book of Restorative Justice (Good Books 2002).

David R. Karp et al., Campus Prism: A Report On Promoting Restorative Initiatives For Sexual Misconduct On College Campuses, Skidmore College Project on Restorative Justice (2016).

Margo Kaplan, Restorative Justice and Campus Sexual Misconduct, 89 emp. L. Rev. 701, 715 (2017).

Id. at 30406 n.1518.

55

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Collaborative Law Model (A Team Approach)

- According to Black's Law Dictionary, collaborative law is a dispute-resolution method by which parties and their attorneys settle disputes using nonadversarial techniques to reach a binding agreement.
- Collaborative law is a method well-suited for settling highly emotional cases such as business partnership dissolutions, wrongful discharge claims, and family law cases.
- In a Collaborative case, clients work with a team of collaboratively trained professionals with the goal of reaching an out-of-court agreement. The team includes two attorneys, a coach/facilitator, and as needed, a financial neutral, child specialist and other professional experts. Each of these team members has a role in the Collaborative process which is described further below:

<https://massclc.org/collaborativepros>

57

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Developing and Planning an Informal Process

59

Restorative Justice vs. Mediation

Mediation

- Dispute doesn't necessarily have to cause a harm, can be just a disagreement
- One party doesn't have to admit wrongdoing/ parties are treated as moral equals
- Focused on coming to an agreement
- settlement-driven
- Not necessarily focused on emotional needs of the parties

Restorative Justice

- A party has been harmed/victimization has occurred
- The offending party must admit to wrongdoing before the process begins
- Focuses on reparations and looks to improve future behavior
- dialogue-driven
- Very focused on the emotional needs of the victim/victim empowerment

Brennan & McInerney, The Difference Between Mediation and Restorative Justice Practice. Restorative Justice Victims, How a Restorative Justice Differed Their Mediator, <http://www.cjonline.com/cj/cj10/how-to-restorative-justice-victims-how-a-restorative-justice-differed-their-mediator>.

56

Collaborative Law Model Cont'd

- The Collaborative Attorney: represents the client's interests, taking into account the other party's interests as a whole; Refrains from using adversarial techniques; Educates the client about legal issues; Works effectively with the other attorney and coach/facilitator to create a structure and environment that maximizes agreement potential
- The Collaborative Coach / Facilitator: Serves as a neutral focused on managing process, client behavior, and emotions; Provides expert advice on the psychology of the circumstances; Identifies and reinforces effective communication between parties; Intervenes to contain and manage conflict; Educates the attorneys about the parties' communication dynamics
- Other Professionals: During the Collaborative process, the parties may choose to engage other neutral professionals to assist with specific areas that require their unique expertise (e.g. well-trained public safety liaison, trauma specialist/counselor, academic support specialist, etc.)

<https://massclc.org/collaborativepros>

58

How will you identify your process(es)?

- Name
- Description
- Demonstrations?
- Personnel
- Relationship to Title IX Policy/Articulation
- Think about the "complaint" requirement
- Desirable or simply available?

60

What are the goals and desirable outcomes associated with your informal process(es)?

- Should an institution even have a goal or desirable outcome—pure v. perfect procedural justice?
- Long term/short term goals/outcomes
- More durable resolution
- Satisfy stakeholder interests
- Non-participating stakeholders/shapeholders
- Transparency?

What forms of informal resolution will you choose?

- Institutional choice...how will this occur and when?
- The choice of one vs. multiple modalities
- Resources, training and being realistic
- Setting measurable institutional goals/ objective evaluation of selection
- Ask counsel: legal implications for specific campus
- Never utilize trial by ordeal; beware of toxic positivity and forced facilitation

61

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Who will facilitate the development of new or existing informal process(es)?

- Evaluate personnel assets and needs
- Beware of conscription
- Develop a leadership plan for creating new processes with ownership
- Don't outrun your logistics
- Talk with counsel and insurers

Who will participate in informal process?

- Develop rules and guidelines for participation
- Authority of informal resolution personnel to expand or contract participation?
- Think about role of lawyers and legal counsel
- Families, friends... and advocates?
- Experts and "witnesses"?
- Adding "neutrals"?

63

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

What will you handle in-house and what might, or benefit from, the assistance of external assistance?

- Complexity of issues and number of parties
- Resources
- Objectivity, conflict of interest, impartiality issues
- Expertise and experience needed
- Cost
- Culture assessment

What legal considerations exist?

- Talk to counsel.
- Laws regulating arbitration?
- Licensing requirements in some states?
- Restorative Justice (admitting responsibility)
- Confidentiality

65

66

Confidentiality Considerations

Confidentiality & Informal Processes (DOE)

The Department appreciates the concerns raised by some commenters that the confidential nature of informal resolutions may mean that the broader educational community is unaware of the risks posed by a perpetrator; however, the final regulations impose robust disclosure requirements on recipients to ensure that parties are fully aware of the consequences of choosing informal resolution, including the records that will be maintained or that could or could not be shared, and the possibility of confidentiality requirements as a condition of entering a final agreement.

Id. at 30404 (emphasis added).

67

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Confidentiality & DOE (Cont'd)

We believe as a fundamental principle that parties and individual recipients are in the best position to determine the conflict resolution process that works for them; for example, a recipient may determine that confidentiality restrictions promote mutually beneficial resolutions between parties and encourage complainants to report, or may determine that the benefits of keeping informal resolution outcomes confidential are outweighed by the need for the educational community to have information about the number or type of sexual harassment incidents being resolved.

Id. at 30404 (internal citation omitted, emphasis added).

68

Confidentiality & DOE (Cont'd)

The recipient's determination about the confidentiality of informal resolutions may be influenced by the model(s) of informal resolution a recipient chooses to offer; for example, a mediation model may result in a mutually agreed upon resolution to the situation without the respondent admitting responsibility, while a restorative justice model may reach a mutual resolution that involves the respondent admitting responsibility. The final regulations permit recipients to consider such aspects of informal resolution processes and decide to offer, or not offer, such processes, but require the recipient to inform the parties of the nature and consequences of any such informal resolution processes.

Id. at 30404 (emphasis added).

69

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

70

Examples in the Field

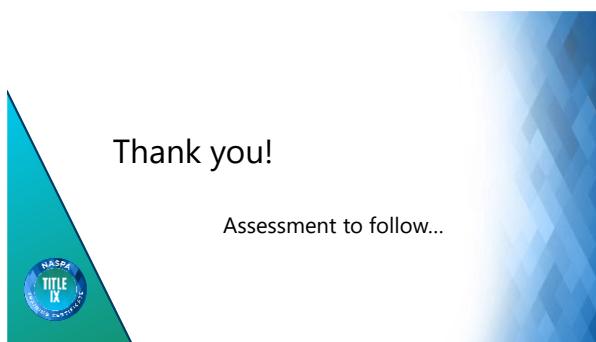

- Princeton University
 - Comprehensive website
 - Explicitly states it is not a restorative justice model
 - <https://sexualmisconductinvestigations.princeton.edu/informal-resolution-process>
- UNC Greensboro
 - Flowchart
 - "The goal of the process is to develop a written agreement between the parties documenting the resolution of the incident."
 - <https://titleix.wp.uncg.edu/informal-resolution-process/>

Where are examples of informal resolution processes in practice?

71

72

Thank you!

Assessment to follow...

73

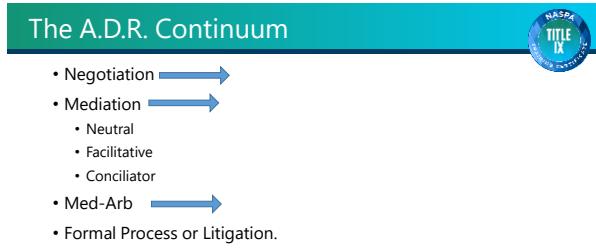

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

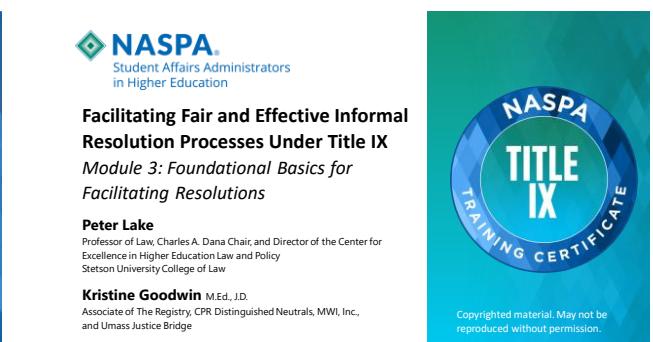

Foundational Basics

75

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

77

Facilitating Fair and Effective Informal Resolution Processes Under Title IX

Module 3: Foundational Basics for Facilitating Resolutions

Peter Lake

Professor of Law, Charles A. Dana Chair, and Director of the Center for Excellence in Higher Education Law and Policy
Seton Hall University College of Law

Kristine Goodwin M.Ed., J.D.

Associate of The Registry, CPR Distinguished Neutrals, MWI, Inc., and UMass Justice Bridge

Copyrighted material. May not be reproduced without permission.

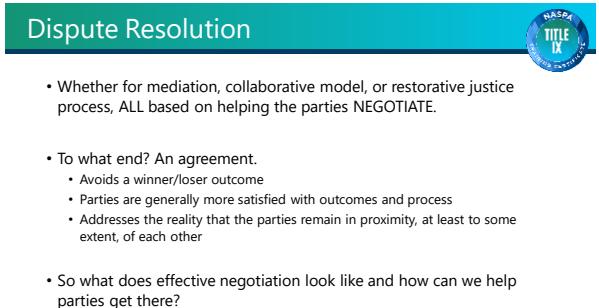

74

A Review of A.D.R.

- "Alternative" Dispute Resolution
- "Appropriate" Dispute Resolution
- —formal methodology used to provide parties a process that feels informal
- As a facilitator you are not winging it.
- A.D.R. is Pandora's Box—The more I learn, the more I realize how much more there is to learn.
- (E.g. Harvard PON, JAMS, MWI, Inc., AAA, CPR Neutrals, Mediate.com, American Bar Association, hundreds of law school courses and LLMs, hundreds of graduate school programs, etc.)

76

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

78

Negotiation

- “Negotiation can be defined as back-and-forth communication designed to reach an agreement between two or more parties with some interests that are shared and others that may conflict or simply be different.”

• (Getting to Yes: Negotiating Agreement Without Giving In (2nd ed.), R. Fisher, W. Ury, and B. Patton (1991))

- “A party’s basic needs, wants, and motivations are commonly referred to as interests . . . People negotiate because they are hoping to satisfy their interests better through an agreement than they could otherwise.”

• (The Handbook of Dispute Resolution, M. Moffitt & R. Bordone (2005) Chapter Eighteen: Negotiation, B. Patton)

79

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

The Theory of Asking “Why?”

Three, Five, or More Times

In behavioral psychology we are using techniques to get a person tell us the underlying factor(s) of a specific position they hold.

<https://medium.com/@kiyanadunlock/root-cause-analysis-psychology-vs-iterating-through-hashes-programming-62798df1bc03>

I think it might help [name of other party] understand your position better if you could talk about WHY you believe this / feel this way.

Can you tell us a bit more about WHY [insert answer] is important to you?

I hear how important [insert answer] is for you, can you say a bit more about WHY it matters so much or how knowing this might help us move forward?

81

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Conflict Styles

Thomas-Kilmann Conflict Mode Instrument (TKI)

TKI assessment identifies a person's preferred conflict-handling style and provides detailed information about how they can use the five different modes effectively:

(1) Avoiding, (2) Accommodating, (3) Compromising, (4) Collaborating, and (5) Competing.

The TKI model demonstrates that these differing behaviors are just different modes of communicating.

- (1) Avoiding: “Leaving Well Enough Alone”
- (2) Accommodating: “Closure Through Self-Sacrifice”
- (3) Compromising: “Splitting the Difference”
- (4) Collaborating: “Two Heads Are Better Than One”
- (5) Competing: “I Know Best”

<https://www.usgs.gov/about/organization/science-support/human-capital/thomas-kilmann-conflict-mode-instrument-tki>

83

Negotiation (continued)

- “Interests are not the same as the positions or demands that people typically stake out and argue for in negotiation.” (id.)

- There are underlying interests to every position and demand!

- We can:

- Cautiously Use Root Cause Analysis (Asking 3, 5 or More Whys)
- Understand and Respond to Parties' Conflict Styles
- Remind Parties' of Their B.A.T.N.A.s
- Facilitate the Conversation & Guide the Process

80

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Best Alternative To a Negotiated Agreement BATNA

Parties end up “. . . better through an agreement than they could otherwise.” The Handbook of Dispute Resolution, M. Moffitt & R. Bordone (2005) Chapter Eighteen: Negotiation, B. Patton

BATNAs are the parties’ “walkaway” alternatives.

We should remind parties why we are here, why they chose to participate—to try and find a better outcome than they could otherwise find through an alternative process.

82

TKI Conflict Styles (Continued)

(1) Avoiding: Appropriate when the issue is trivial, the relationship is not important, time is short. Inappropriate when the relationship is important, negative feelings will linger, parties would benefit from a productive confrontation.

(2) Accommodating: Appropriate when a party doesn't care much about the issue, seeking harmony or credit, and a party realizes they are wrong. Inappropriate when a party is likely to harbor resentment and there is an opportunity to collaborate.

(3) Compromising: Appropriate when cooperation is important but time is limited, finding a solution is better than a stalemate, and efforts to collaborate are not met with reciprocal effort. Inappropriate when finding a more creative solution.

(4) Collaborating: Appropriate when issues, relationship, and a mutually beneficial outcome is important and parties are reasonable about their hopes. Inappropriate when time is short, issues are unimportant, the goals of one party are unjustifiable, and the relationships is secondary or no importance.

(5) Competing: Appropriate when an emergency looms or a party is actually right. Inappropriate when collaboration has not yet been attempted, buy-in from others is important, and long-term gains are a priority.

84

Mediation Requirements

- Mediation as problem-solving requires three things:

- A willingness on the part of all the relevant stakeholders to work together to resolve the problem or deal with the situation;
- The availability of a trusted "neutral" with sufficient knowledge and skill to manage difficult conversations; and
- An agreement on procedural ground rules (i.e., confidentiality, timetable, agenda, good faith effort, etc.).

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/mediation-as-problem-solving/>

85

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

How Mediation Works Cont'd

- Joint Discussion
 - After each side presents its opening remarks, the mediator and the parties are free to ask questions with the goal of arriving at a better understanding of each party's needs and concerns.
- Caucuses
 - If emotions run high during a joint session, the mediator might split the sides into separate rooms for private meetings.
- Facilitated Negotiation
 - At this point, it's time to begin formulating ideas and proposals that meet each party's core interests.
- Closing and Follow Up
 - If the parties reach consensus, the mediator will outline the terms and may write up a draft agreement.

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/how-does-mediation-work/>

87

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Planning and the Preliminary Meetings

- In most cases, the mediator will meet with the parties and/or their representatives prior to the joint mediation session.
- The initial meeting provides:
 - An explanation of the mediation process;
 - An opportunity to build rapport with the parties by encouraging them to discuss issues, which might affect the likelihood of reaching an agreement;
 - An appropriate time for parties to discuss concerns they have and to ask the mediator questions.
 - (E.g. What are you hoping for in this mediation? What are your interests and how do they rank in importance? What do you think are the other party's interests? What questions do you have? Concerns?)

<https://www.jamsadr.com/mediation-guide>

89

How Mediation Works

- Planning and the Preliminary Meetings

- Before mediation begins, the mediator helps the parties decide when and where to meet, for how long, and who will be there. The mediator also conducts a preliminary meeting with each party separately.

- Mediator's Introduction

- With the parties gathered together in the same room, the mediator introduces the participants, outlines the mediation process, lays out the ground rules, answers questions, and emphasizes the goal for the mediation—to reach an agreement.

- Opening Remarks by Parties

- Following the mediator's introduction, each side is given an opportunity to present its view of the dispute without interruption. In addition, they may also take time to vent their feelings.

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/how-does-mediation-work/>

86

Important Steps

- Preparation
- Understanding the conflict(s)
- Defining points of agreement and dispute
- Identifying objective standards and interests
- Creating options
- Developing a resolution, including an agreement

88

Mediator's Introduction

- Welcome
- Overview of the Process and Role of the Mediator
- Voluntariness of Mediation
- Confidentiality of Mediation
- Neutrality and Impartiality of Mediation
- Structure of this Mediation Session
- Answer Questions and Confirm Participation

www.mwi.org (adapted)

90

Opening Remarks by Parties

- Each party is given an opportunity to present their view of the dispute without interruption. In addition, they may also take time to vent their feelings.
- The mediator may need to help a party present what they view to be the facts and the desired outcome.
- The mediator may need to instruct parties to not interrupt, reassure parties that they will be given a chance to speak without interruption, and remind parties that there will be time to ask questions of each other in the next phase of the mediation process.

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/how-does-mediation-work/>
<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/navigating-the-mediation-process/>

91

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Caucuses

- Caucuses, or separating the parties into separate rooms for private meetings, is a great tool to use when emotions are running high, when there is an impasse, or when the mediator needs to discuss something with one of the parties in private. The caucus can also be used to generate ideas in the Negotiation Phase of the mediation session.
- Often, but not always, the mediator discusses with each side what information discussed in caucus will remain confidential and that which the party wants shared. The promise of confidentiality can encourage parties to share new information about their interests and concerns.
- Mediators should keep track of and balance the amount of time spent with each party and keep each party informed. (E.g. I will spend approximately 10 minutes with each of you. If I need to go longer, I will come tell you.)

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/how-does-mediation-work/>

93

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Closing and Follow Up

- If the parties reach consensus, the mediator will outline the terms and may write up a draft agreement.
- If the parties do not reach an agreement, the mediator will sum up where the session left off and engage in a discussion about alternatives (e.g. another session or an alternative form of dispute resolution).

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/how-does-mediation-work/>

95

Joint Discussion

- Because disputing sides often have difficulty listening to each other, mediators act like translators, repeating back what they have heard and asking for clarification when necessary.
- If parties reach an impasse, mediators diagnose the obstacles that lie in their path and work to get the discussion back on track.
- A mediator helps the parties by facilitating communication, promoting understanding, and guiding parties away from positions, and even options, until interests are fully communicated and ideally heard.
- Mediators should be patient in this phase of the mediation. The goal is for the parties to understand each others' interests before moving into idea generation and option analysis.

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/how-does-mediation-work/>
<https://www.jamsadr.com/mediation-guide>

92

Facilitated Negotiation

- This is the idea generation and option analysis phase of the mediation session.
- The mediator can lead the negotiation with all parties in the same room, or can engage in "shuttle diplomacy," moving back and forth between the parties, gathering ideas, proposals, and counterproposals.
- The mediator will sometimes need to remind parties of their BATNA and discuss its pros and cons and the likely result if an agreement cannot be reached.

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/how-does-mediation-work/>
<https://www.jamsadr.com/mediation-guide>

94

Who can help?
What about "break-downs"
where an agreement cannot be reached?

96

Planning for Problems

- When self help is an appropriate response?
- When you need assistance, but it can wait?
- When immediate assistance is necessary?
- Returning to the mediation table?
- When a formal process may be your BATNA (best alternative to a negotiated agreement)?
- What about:
 - Confidentiality?
 - Mediator ethics?
 - Dealing with difficult behaviors?

97

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Mediation & Confidentiality: State Statutes and Campus Policies

- Consider state medical privacy laws and educational record rules—consult counsel
Be aware of mandatory and permissive disclosure rules—example Texas reporting laws or Sandusky laws
Confidentiality vs. Discoverability vs. Testimonial Privileges
Records and record keeping—need to know?
Implementation and confidentiality
Drafting of agreements—advice of counsel
Penalties for disclosure?
Tuning and respecting campus policy
“The coconut telegraph”—Jimmy Buffett

99

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Monitoring Informal Resolutions/Planning for Potential Issues Post-Resolution

- Managing no-contact orders/agreements
- Case management functions, if any
- Options for self-help, reporting and/or enforcement
- Returning to informal resolution

101

Managing “new” information—warnings and other related issues

- Actual notice or violations in transit
- Signs of coercion
- Being “worked”
- Good faith
- The clown handkerchief problem
- Intersectionality//transposing one issue into another
- Smoking gun revelations

98

Mediator Ethics Guidelines

- (1) Ensure that all parties are informed about the mediator's role, the nature of the mediation process, and the terms of the agreement—if one is reached.
- (2) Protect the voluntary participation of each party.
- (3) Be competent to mediate the particular matter.
- (4) Maintain neutrality and the perception of neutrality, and conduct the process impartially.
- (5) Refrain from providing legal advice or guaranteeing results.
- (6) Withdraw under certain circumstances (e.g. lack of informed consent, conflict of interest, use of mediation for inappropriate purpose, procedural or substantive unfairness)

<https://www.jamsadr.com/mediation-guide>

100

Return to the A.D.R. Continuum

Med-Arb

A hybrid mediation-arbitration approach called med-arb combines the benefits of both techniques. Parties first attempt to collaborate on an agreement with the help of a mediator. If the mediation ends in impasse, or if issues remain unresolved, the parties can then move to arbitration. The mediator can assume the role of arbitrator (if qualified) and render a binding decision, or an arbitrator can take over the case after consulting with the mediator.

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/deciding-on-arbitration-vs-mediation-try-combining-them/>

102

About Our Upcoming Live Session

- Practice, Practice, Practice
- Shadow and be shadowed
- Co-facilitation / Co-mediation
- Register for a 40-Hour training
- Consider who else can mediate...
- See you soon!

103

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Facilitating Fair and Effective Informal Resolution Processes Under Title IX Live Virtual Session

Peter Lake
Professor of Law, Charles A. Dana Chair, and Director of the Center for Excellence in Higher Education Law and Policy
Stetson University College of Law

Kristine Goodwin M.Ed., J.D.
Associate of The Registry, CPR Distinguished Neutrals, MWI, Inc., and Umass Justice Bridge

Housekeeping Items...

- We are taking attendance, so please make sure your name appears as a participant.
- Scenarios were emailed this morning. Please let us know via chat if you did not receive them.
- Please send any and all questions directly to Kristine Goodwin via chat.
 - We will not read your name.
 - We will stay slightly past the end time if needed to answer questions but if you need to leave at the exact ending time, that's ok.
- REMINDER--This session is NOT being recorded.

105

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

What we hope to accomplish today...

- Brief Review of Issues Discussed in the Modules with Q&A
- Highlight of Select Issues
- Mediator Introduction and Scenario #1 Demonstration
- Scenarios #2 - #4 in Breakout Groups
- Open Time for Questions and Answers

107

108

Brief Review of Issues Discussed in the Modules

Thank you!

Assessment to follow...

104

Thank you!

Assessment to follow...

Points on Informal Resolution

- The new regulations don't require it, but informal resolution is allowed.
- A formal complaint must be filed before any informal resolution process can begin.
- Both parties must voluntarily agree to informal resolution (written consent required). [No coercion or undue influence.]
- No "informed" consent standard as such, other than information required by regulations.
- Parties do not have to be in the same room...often, they are not.
- Equitable implementation by trained personnel.
- Dept. of Education gives flexibility for institutions to create informal processes that work for them.

From the commentary accompanying the new Title IX regulations...

The Department believes an explicit definition of "informal resolution" in the final regulations is unnecessary. Informal resolution may encompass a broad range of conflict resolution strategies, including, but not limited to, arbitration, mediation, or restorative justice. Defining this concept may have the unintended effect of limiting parties' freedom to choose the resolution option that is best for them, and recipient flexibility to craft resolution processes that serve the unique educational needs of their communities.

Department of Education, Nondiscrimination on the Basis of Sex in Education Programs or Activities Receiving Federal Financial Assistance; 85 Fed. Reg. 30323 (May 15, 2020) (final rule) (online at www.govinfo.gov/content/pkg/FR-2020-05-15/pdf/2020-10512.pdf) at 30402 (emphasis added).

109

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Informal Resolution Options

- Educational Conferences
- Mediation (Neutral, Facilitative, Collaborative)
- Med-Arb (Mediation and Arbitration, Non-Binding Arbitration)
- Restorative Justice
- Collaborative Law Model

[We will focus on mediation in our scenarios.]

110

Mediation Requirements

- Mediation as problem-solving requires three things:
 - A willingness on the part of all the relevant stakeholders to work together to resolve the problem or deal with the situation;
 - The availability of a trusted "neutral" with sufficient knowledge and skill to manage difficult conversations; and
 - An agreement on procedural ground rules (i.e., confidentiality, timetable, agenda, good faith effort, etc.).

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/mediation-as-problem-solving/>

111

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Best Alternative To a Negotiated Agreement BATNA

- Parties end up "... better through an agreement than they could otherwise." The Handbook of Dispute Resolution, M. Moffitt & R. Bordone (2005) Chapter Eighteen: Negotiation, B. Patton
- BATNAs are the parties' "walkaway" alternatives.
- We should remind parties why we are here, why they chose to participate—to try and find a better outcome than they could otherwise find through an alternative process.

112

Questions on Information from the Video Modules?

113

114

Special Issue Highlight: Informal Resolution and Possible Impact of the 2020 Election on Title IX Regulations

115

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Special Issue Highlight: What Types of Disputes Can You Address?

117

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

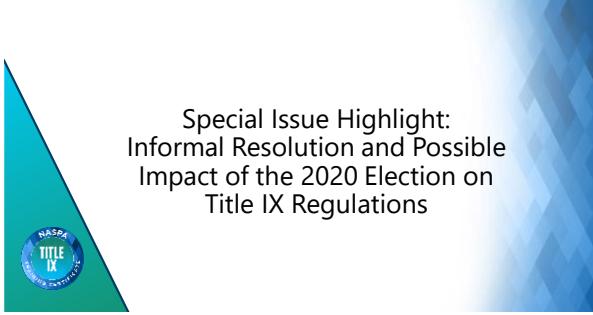

- Student <- -> Student
- Staff/Faculty <--> Staff/Faculty
- Student harasses staff/faculty
- Never when staff/faculty harasses student
- What are some nuances when dealing with each permutation?
- When if ever are multi-party disputes not appropriate or unsuited for informal resolution
- Can 'issues' be sent into informal resolution as opposed to entire matters?

119

2020 Election: Potential Impacts on Informal Resolution

- Will new DOE favor or disfavor informal resolution? Forms of informal resolution? Transparency and fairness issues.....
- Regulations: the law until they are not. But what of commentary and the return of guidance?
- How might court cases influence the future of informal resolution?
- Priorities and timing of new administration

116

What Types of Disputes Can You Address Informally?

REMEMBER...

- A formal complaint must be filed before offering informal resolution.
- A recipient cannot require parties to participate in informal resolution—participation must be voluntary.
- A recipient should use "good judgment" to ensure informal resolution is appropriate in each situation.

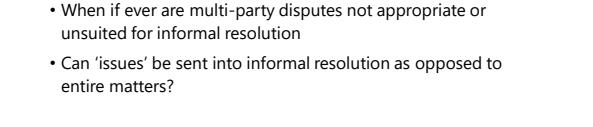

118

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Special Issue Highlight: Advisors in Informal Process

120

The Role of Advisors in Informal Processes

- Will advisors participate in informal process? Only certain types of "advisors"? Prohibition on attorneys?
- If advisors can participate, how?
- [W]e decline to mandate that the parties confer with an advisor before entering an informal resolution process, or to mandate that recipients provide the parties with advisors before entering an informal resolution process. Id. at 30402.
- Remember: the Department of Education gives flexibility to institutions to create informal processes that serve their needs.

121

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

122

Special Issue Highlight: Confidentiality

Section 106.45(b)(9)(i) provides that the written notice given to both parties before entering an informal resolution process must indicate what records would be maintained or could be shared in that process. Importantly, records that could potentially be kept confidential could include the written notice itself, which would not become a public record. The Department leaves it to the discretion of recipients to make these determinations. The Department believes this requirement effectively puts both parties on notice as to the confidentiality and privacy implications of participating in informal resolution. Recipients remain free to exercise their judgment in determining the confidentiality parameters of the informal resolution process they offer to parties.

Id. at 30402.

123

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

124

Special Issue Highlight: "Consequences" or "Sanctions" in Informal Resolution

[A]n informal resolution process, in which the parties voluntarily participate, may end in an agreement under which the respondent agrees to a disciplinary sanction or other adverse consequence, without the recipient completing a grievance process, under § 106.45(b)(9).

Id. at 30059 n.286.

Informal resolutions may reach agreements between the parties, facilitated by the recipient, that include [supportive] measures but that also could include disciplinary measures, while providing finality for both parties in terms of resolving allegations raised in a formal complaint of sexual harassment. Because an informal resolution may result in disciplinary or punitive measures agreed to by a respondent, we have revised § 106.45(b)(9) to expressly state that a recipient may not offer informal resolution unless a formal complaint is filed. This ensures that the parties understand the allegations at issue and the right to have the allegations resolved through the formal grievance process, and the right to voluntarily consent to participate in informal resolution.

Id. at 30401.

125

126

Mediation does not bar imposition of penalties.

E.g., Rajib Chanda, Mediating University Sexual Assault Cases, 6 Harv. Negotiation L. Rev. 265, 301 (2001) (defining mediation as “a process through which two or more disputing parties negotiate a voluntary settlement with the help of a ‘third party’ (the mediator) who typically has no stake in the outcome” and stressing that this “does not impose a ‘win-win’ requirement, nor does it bar penalties. A party can ‘lose’ or be penalized; mediation only requires that the loss or penalty is agreed to by both parties—in a sexual assault case, ‘agreements . . . may include reconciliation, restitution for the victim, rehabilitation for whoever needs it, and the acceptance of responsibility by the offender.’”)

Id. at 30406 n.1519 (emphasis added).

127

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Princeton University Example

Do respondents face discipline as a result of the informal resolution process? Can a respondent’s participation in the informal resolution process be considered in future disciplinary proceedings?

Under this process, there will be no disciplinary action taken against a respondent, and the resolution will not appear on the respondent’s disciplinary record. In addition, if a formal complaint is filed against the respondent in as subsequent matter under the Title IX Sexual Harassment policy or the University Sexual Misconduct policy, the respondent’s participation in a prior informal resolution process will not be considered relevant and will not be taken into account in the resolution of the subsequent complaint.

<https://sexualmisconductinvestigations.princeton.edu/informal-resolution-process>

Id. at 30405.

129

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

What part does the institution play?

- None?
- Institution (Title IX coordinator or decision-maker or designee signs off on agreement parameters?)
- Institution manages “contract” agreed to under informal resolution processes?
- Institution “enforces” agreement?
- Institution implements sanctions?
- Mediators act on behalf of the institution?

131

What can be an outcome?

- “Disciplinary sanction”
- “Consequence”
- “Outcome”
- Due process? Informal resolution consequences will be/will not be on student record?
- What is discipline and what is not?
 - Counseling?
 - Continuation of supportive measures?
- Consult counsel

128

Agreements = Contracts

*The Department expects informal resolution agreements to be treated as contracts; the parties remain free to negotiate the terms of the agreement and, once entered into, it may become binding according to its terms.

130

Expulsion as a Result of Informal Process?

The Department believes that the robust disclosure requirements of § 106.45(b)(9), the requirement that both parties provide voluntary written consent to informal resolution, and the explicit right of either party to withdraw from the informal resolution process at any time prior to agreeing to the resolution (which may or may not include expulsion of the respondent), will adequately protect the respondent’s interest in a fair process before the sanction of expulsion is imposed. Accordingly, the Department believes that prohibiting recipients from using informal resolution where it results in expulsion is unnecessary; if expulsion is the sanction proposed as part of an informal resolution process, that result can only occur if both parties agree to the resolution.

Id. at 30407.

132

Expulsion Cont'd

If a respondent, for example, does not believe that expulsion is appropriate then the respondent can withdraw from the informal resolution process and resume the formal grievance process under which the recipient must complete a fair investigation and adjudication, render a determination regarding responsibility, and only then decide on any disciplinary sanction.

Id. at 30407.

133

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

With respect to recipients' potential legal liability where the respondent acknowledges commission of Title IX sexual harassment (or other violation of recipient's policy) during an informal resolution process, yet the agreement reached allows the respondent to remain on campus and the respondent commits Title IX sexual harassment (or violates the recipient's policy) again, the Department believes that recipients should have the flexibility and discretion to determine under what circumstances respondents should be suspended or expelled from campus as a disciplinary sanction, whether that follows from an informal resolution or after a determination of responsibility under the formal grievance process.

Id. at 30407.

Special Issue Highlight: Legal Liability

134

Federal courts have considered a recipient's duty not to be deliberately indifferent by exposing potential victims to repeat misconduct of a respondent, when considering what sanctions to impose against a particular respondent. The Department declines to adopt a rule that would mandate suspension or expulsion as the only appropriate sanction following a determination of responsibility against a respondent; recipients deserve flexibility to design sanctions that best reflect the needs and values of the recipient's educational mission and community, and that most appropriately address the unique circumstances of each case. While Federal courts have found recipients to be deliberately indifferent where the recipient failed to take measures to avoid subjecting students to discrimination in light of known circumstances that included a respondent's prior sexual misconduct, courts have also emphasized that the deliberate indifference standard is not intended to imply that a school must suspend or expel every respondent found responsible for sexual harassment.

Id. at 30407.

135

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Special Issue Highlight: Bias, Impartiality, Etc.

137

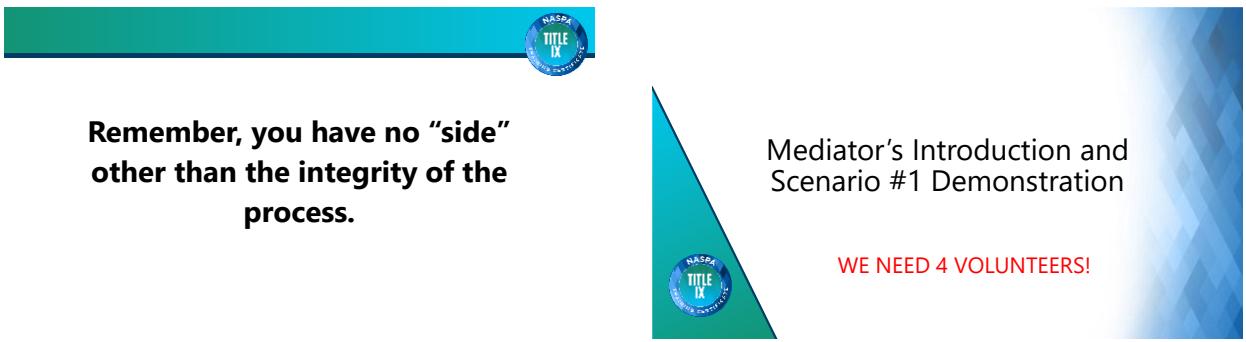

136

All who implement informal processes should serve in their roles impartially.

All Title IX personnel should avoid

- prejudgment of facts
- prejudice
- conflicts of interest
- bias
- sex stereotypes

138

Remember, you have no “side” other than the integrity of the process.

139

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Mediator's Introduction

- Welcome
- Overview of the Process and Role of the Mediator
- Voluntariness of Mediation
- Confidentiality of Mediation
- Neutrality and Impartiality of Mediation
- Structure of this Mediation Session
- Answer Questions and Confirm Participation

www.mwi.org (adapted)

141

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

How Mediation Works Cont'd

- Joint Discussion
 - After each side presents its opening remarks, the mediator and the parties are free to ask questions with the goal of arriving at a better understanding of each party's needs and concerns.
- Caucuses
 - If emotions run high during a joint session, the mediator might split the sides into separate rooms for private meetings.
- Facilitated Negotiation
 - At this point, it's time to begin formulating ideas and proposals that meet each party's core interests.
- Closing and Follow Up
 - If the parties reach consensus, the mediator will outline the terms and may write up a draft agreement.

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/how-does-mediation-work/>

143

Mediator's Introduction and Scenario #1 Demonstration

WE NEED 4 VOLUNTEERS!

140

How Mediation Works

- Planning and the Preliminary Meetings
 - Before mediation begins, the mediator helps the parties decide when and where to meet, for how long, and who will be there. The mediator also conducts a preliminary meeting with each party separately.
- Mediator's Introduction
 - With the parties gathered together in the same room, the mediator introduces the participants, outlines the mediation process, lays out the ground rules, answers questions, and emphasizes the goal for the mediation—to reach an agreement.
- Opening Remarks by Parties
 - Following the mediator's introduction, each side is given an opportunity to present its view of the dispute without interruption. In addition, they may also take time to vent their feelings.

<https://www.pon.harvard.edu/daily/mediation/how-does-mediation-work/>

142

It's Your Turn! Scenarios #2 – #4 in Breakout Groups

144

Breakout Groups

- We're going to take a 15-minute break before starting the scenarios in the breakout groups.
 - Please jot down some words regarding your mediator's introduction.
 - Please review the scenarios if you have not already.
- You will be placed into a random breakout group with about 4-6 other people.
- Please make sure you are unmuted and video is on.

145

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Questions following the scenarios?

Thank you!

147

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Facilitating Fair and Effective Informal Resolution Processes Under Title IX
 (See Component: Facilitating Resolution)

How Mediation Works

- Planning and the Preliminary Meeting
 - The mediator meets with each party separately to determine the parties decide when and where to meet, for how long, and who will facilitate. The mediator also conducts a preliminary meeting with the parties to discuss the mediation process.
 - Following the mediator's introductions, each side gets an opportunity to present its story in a safe and neutral atmosphere. In addition, they may also take time to vent their feelings.
- Joint Discussion
 - After each side presents its opening陈述, the mediator and the parties are to sit down together to work toward the creation of a better understanding of each party's position.
 - Caucuses
 - If the parties are still high during a joint session, the mediator might split the sides into separate rooms for private meetings.
 - Agreements
 - At this point, it's time to begin formulating ideas and proposing the next each party's position.
 - Closing and Follow Up
 - After all the joint discussions, the mediator will outline the terms, and may write up a staff agreement.

Mediator's Administration Checklist

- Preparation of Parties
 - Explain the mediation process (e.g., neutrality, confidentiality).
 - Assess the parties' needs and interests (e.g., helping to negotiate statements, cautions, notes, agreements).
 - Establish roles in mediation (e.g., voluntary, confidential with limited exceptions, party-centered).
 - Establish rules of engagement with trust and neutrality, answered parties' questions, and confirmed agreement to continue—with all parties.
- Comments/Notes:

Mediator's Self-Evaluation and Feedback Inquiry

- Let all parties speak.
 - Mediator showed equal interest.
 - Sentimentality was avoided.
 - Mediator did not dominate.
 - Mediator moved from positions to interests.
 - Mediator did not impose his/her own interests.
 - Mediator responded to the priorities of the parties.
 - Mediator did not let one party dominate.
 - Mediator did not let the other party dominate.
 - Mediator parties see their own limitations.
 - Mediator parties did not feel pressure.
 - Mediator parties had confidentiality and confirmed what could and could not be shared with others.
 - Encouraged negotiation among parties.
 - Mediator did not impose his/her own interests.
 - Mediator from going concessions as much as possible.
 - Mediator did not impose his/her own interests.
 - Mediator made sure all issues were addressed.
 - Mediator did not let one party dominate.
 - Mediator parties had confidentiality of session.
- Comments/Notes:

Scenarios #2 - #4

- Take about 75 minutes in your group to work through Scenarios 2 – 4. You can do them in any order.
- Remember:
 - Group of 4—Two Co-Mediators, One Complainant, One Respondent
 - Group of 5—One Mediator, One Complainant, One Respondent, One Complainant Advisor, One Respondent Advisor
 - Group of 6—Two Co-Mediators, One Complainant, One Respondent, One Complainant Advisor, One Respondent Advisor
- Mediators should practice their introductions.
- Please rotate positions so everyone has a chance to play all the roles.
- If you don't have enough time to work through all the scenarios, that's okay.

146

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Facilitating Fair and Effective Informal Resolution Processes Under Title IX

Live Session Handouts

Peter Lake
 Professor of Law, Charles A. Dana Chair, and Director of the Center for Excellence in Higher Education Law and Policy
 Stetson University College of Law

Kristin Goodwin M.Ed., J.D.
 Associate of The Registry, CPR Distinguished Neutrals, MWI, Inc., and UMass Justice Bridge

Copyrighted material. May not be reproduced without permission.

148

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Practice Session Instructions

The best way to become a effective mediator: Practice is the practice.

Although the following scenarios were created for this training, the scenarios are closer to real life situations than you may realize. In fact, we encourage you to use your own experiences to further develop the characters, without deviating too much from the facts.

Time to Play

In practice scenarios, the role play is important as please commence as soon as possible. We hope everyone will get a chance to serve as a mediator—mediator, as a disputant, and as an advocate. Please remember that the purpose of the role play is to practice.

While the disputants and advocates are role playing, they should also be preparing to give the mediators feedback during the critique portion. This is about helping each other to better. Consider the following questions when giving feedback to the mediators:

- Was the mediator able to keep the parties engaged?
- Was the mediator able to keep the parties talking?
- Was the mediator able to keep the parties being truthful, kind, and for the benefit of the parties?
- Was the mediator able to make mistakes and learn from them?

You will notice that all parties are non-gender specific. You can use your real name if you'd like or use the name given—whatever is easier for you. Please make the scenario as realistic as possible and try to keep the mediation in context or think outside the box. It does not matter if the mediator is new with Title IX personnel or has been doing this for months. They will have to manage real situations. We know many people don't like role plays, but please do your best for the sake of your fellow participants.

Thank you in advance!

Comments/Notes:

Scenario 1

Complainant: Ice Hockey Player
Complainant Advisor: Ice Hockey Player's Parent (an alum of the institution)

Respondent: Basketball Player
Respondent Advisor: Basketball Player's Older Sister

Ice Hockey Player and Basketball Player have been dating and in a romantic relationship since sophomore year. They are first semester seniors, and their relationship is serious, but casual. They are both members of the basketball team and the ice hockey team. Both coaches of both teams and the trainers have expressed concerns about the way Ice Hockey Player and Basketball Player interact. They are having growing arguments and intervention by training coaches and most recently an argument became physical resulting in an intervention by a trainer and a formal complaint being filed with the Title IX Coordinator by Ice Hockey Player. Ice Hockey Player and Basketball Player have been in several altercations over the past few months. Ice Hockey Player says that the most recent argument was because Basketball Player suggested that Ice Hockey Player was being a "softie" and that Basketball Player was being a "bully". Basketball Player says that Basketball Player is being a bully because Basketball Player always wins and even had sex with another basketball player just to make Basketball Player upset. Basketball Player is trying to forgive Ice Hockey Player but is triggered by Ice Hockey Player's fighting and "mean" games.

Comments/Notes:

149

150

Scenario #2 Complainant: Professor P Complainant Advisor: Faculty Union Representative Respondent: Student S Respondent Advisor: Professor M from the Political Science Department Professor P is located in the English Department and Student S is one of Professor P's students. Student S is a first-year student majoring in English. Professor P reports that Student S has continually been leaving notes in Professor P's office and even at the podium in the lecture hall where class is held. At first the notes seemed like harmless compliments about the professor's teaching, but over time the notes became more and more inappropriate. Recently one of the notes suggested the Student S has been watching Professor P outside of class and has been writing down what Professor P says. Professor P has asked Student S to stop leaving notes. Student S agreed to stop, but the following week Professor P received another note from Student S. Professor P has asked Student S to stop again. Professor P believes that the behavior of Student S is unacceptable and has asked the Office of Title IX to handle the behavior. The Professor who suggested Professor P contact the Title IX Coordinator to file a formal complaint. Student S' notes to Professor P are uninvited and interfere with Professor P's ability to teach. Professor P is concerned about how this will affect his work performance. Professor P wants Student S removed from the class. Student S wants to remain in the class. Professor P is concerned about how this will affect his grade point average toward Student S' major requirements. In addition, Student S does not understand why Professor P is so upset. Professor P is also concerned about how this will affect Student S' grade in this class, but Student S wants to remain in Professor P's class and the English department. For these reasons Student S is alleging that Professor P's "overreaction" is causing Student S severe anxiety. Comments/Notes:	Scenario #3 Complainant: Alpha Complainant Advisor: Alpha's Attorney Respondent: Theta Respondent Advisor: Theta's Attorney Theta and Alpha both work in the financial aid department. Theta occasionally uses the office computer to look at web sites that Alpha finds offensive. While not photographic, the web sites contain language that is considered inappropriate. Alpha is uncomfortable with the language and concerns to Theta that she is making it stop, but Theta does this anyway. Theta says that Alpha is unfair for her to complain up to the Title IX office. Theta is looking at poor. On one occasion Theta asked me to look at the computer. Drawing it out, Alpha is not the only one to say things that are inappropriate. Pictures of naked people. Fed up, Alpha filed a formal complaint with the Title IX coordinator. Theta is not happy with the Title IX coordinator and Theta is not happy with the University. Theta believes Alpha is really upset about the fact that Theta is paid more than Alpha and in retaliation for Theta reporting Alpha for being late to work on several occasions. Theta is not happy with the Title IX coordinator and Theta is not happy with Alpha. Theta and Alpha agreed to try mediation after the filing of the formal complaint by Alpha, and Theta and Alpha agreed to informal resolution. Comments/Notes:
Mediation Note Sheet (Parties) Interest— Each party's hopes, wants, needs. Party A: Party B: Options— Possible solutions Assumptions— Each party's BATNA (best alternative to a negotiated agreement) Party A: Party B: Objective Standards— standards of fairness (e.g. precedents, community standards, laws, expert opinion)

151

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.

Facilitator C: Goodwill Kangaroo Mediator Introduction Template You are free to use any and all of these templates, but I want to remind you of what I said during the training program. As I have more and diverse other mediations, I change the template. Because of this, I do not have a "final" template. I am continually improving them depending on who the parties are and what I think they need to know and what they might need. Good morning/afternoon, HOSTING/FACILITATING Before we begin, I'd like to go over a few housekeeping issues—cell phones silenced if possible, please turn off your cameras and microphones, and no food or drink in the room during our discussion. INTRODUCTION OF PARTIES I know my [NAME] and we are a trained mediator. [REMEMBER DIRECTIONS] I am glad to see you here today and I am here to help you. I am here to help you. IMPORTANT ASPECTS OF MEDIATION There are three main aspects of mediation: (1) voluntariness, (2) confidentiality, and (3) mediator neutrality. Again, voluntariness, confidentiality and neutrality. CONFIDENTIALITY I want you to know that this is in greater detail in a moment, but because neutrality is so important, I want to pass on ask, does anyone have any reason to be concerned about my ability to be neutral? If there is any concern about my neutrality, please let me know. If you are not comfortable proceeding with me as your mediator, please let me know. INTRODUCTION OF RATES Again, my name is [NAME] and you can call me [NAME]. Either way, I am here to help you. You can draw me a picture and let me know how you would like me to address you. WHAT IS MEDIATION? This is a process that allows the parties in conflict to sit down, talk to each other, and try to resolve the issue. I think that in other words, are you comfortable proceeding with me as your mediator? INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT I am here to facilitate the parties in greater detail in a moment, but because neutrality is so important, I want to pass on ask, does anyone have any reason to be concerned about my ability to be neutral? If there is any concern about my neutrality, please let me know. If you are not comfortable proceeding with me as your mediator, please let me know. MEDIATOR NEUTRALITY I want you to know that this is in greater detail in a moment, but because neutrality is so important, I want to pass on ask, does anyone have any reason to be concerned about my ability to be neutral? If there is any concern about my neutrality, please let me know. If you are not comfortable proceeding with me as your mediator, please let me know. INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT I am here to facilitate the parties in greater detail in a moment, but because neutrality is so important, I want to pass on ask, does anyone have any reason to be concerned about my ability to be neutral? If there is any concern about my neutrality, please let me know. If you are not comfortable proceeding with me as your mediator, please let me know. INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT I am here to facilitate the parties in greater detail in a moment, but because neutrality is so important, I want to pass on ask, does anyone have any reason to be concerned about my ability to be neutral? If there is any concern about my neutrality, please let me know. If you are not comfortable proceeding with me as your mediator, please let me know. THE GOALS AND OBJECTIVES OF MEDIATION/NEUTRALITY Now that we have introduced ourselves to each other, I would like to give a quick time alone with each party—or continue the conversation here—justly. Communication is key, and as you may know, you may not feel comfortable sharing in the joint session and for you to do so, I would like to have a private session with each party to discuss what we discuss. CONFIDENTIALITY Confidentiality in mediation is confidential except as required by law and/or college/university policy. COMPLICATED Disagreements in mediation are confidential except as required by law and/or college/university policy. RESPECT Your mediator will be holding the door for you as soon as he or she is ready to help you remember the issues to be discussed and listen in this way, they can be helpful. VOLUNTARINESS, CONFIDENTIALITY & MEDIATOR NEUTRALITY Please remember that the voluntary nature of mediation is important, and the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. Please remember that the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. Please remember that the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. Please remember that the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. TRANSITION TO ALLOWING THE PARTIES TO GIVE OPENING STATEMENTS A standard practice is to begin with the complainant—in that as with each of you? No? No? Then the respondent—in that as with each of you? No? No? Finally, the mediator will introduce what you hope mediation will accomplish, and describe the issues as you see them.	The goal of mediation is that all parties leave feeling somewhat satisfied. We may or may not reach full agreement today, we may reach partial agreement, or no agreement at all. And that's ok... ...and that's ok and again as you can exercise your BATNA—any you best alternative to a negotiated agreement—also what you will do if no agreement is reached. Mediation is a process that allows the parties to come to an agreement that is different from adjudication where parties tell a fact finder their side of the story and the adjudicator makes a decision. In mediation, the parties tell their side of the story and the mediator, in mediation, the decision making will be made by you—the parties. MEDIATOR'S ROLE My role in mediation is to facilitate a discussion that the parties are most prepared to you to help you generate ideas about how your interests can be met, and to help draw up an agreement that is acceptable to both parties again fully if possible. DISCUSSION MODE—NO PROCESS In just a moment, I am going to give each of you an opportunity to make an uninterrupted statement about your needs and interests. Please do not interrupt each other, and do not debate the sides as you see them. After that, you will have an opportunity to ask the other party directly and again—no interrupt. If the other party says something that you wish to remember or talk about, just do so. THE CAUCUS AND MORE ON MEDIATOR NEUTRALITY Please remember that the voluntary nature of mediation is important, and the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. Please remember that the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. Please remember that the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. CONFIDENTIALITY Confidentiality in mediation is confidential except as required by law and/or college/university policy. RESPECT Your mediator will be holding the door for you as soon as he or she is ready to help you remember the issues to be discussed and listen in this way, they can be helpful. VOLUNTARINESS, CONFIDENTIALITY & MEDIATOR NEUTRALITY Please remember that the voluntary nature of mediation is important, and the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. Please remember that the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. Please remember that the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement.
I will destroy these notes immediately after our session ends. I will not share information unless required by law and even then I would resist forced to do so. Agreed. Agrees to the general rule that mediation is a confidential process as limited. Do you agree to the confidentiality requirements of mediation? Yes/No. Any questions? VOLUNTEERS Please remember that the voluntary nature of mediation is important, and the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. Please remember that the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. Please remember that the mediator is not a judge, but rather a neutral third party who is there to help the parties reach a mutual agreement. Please let me know if you have any questions? Do you have any questions? Are you willing to confirm? Yes/No. TRANSITION TO ALLOWING THE PARTIES TO GIVE OPENING STATEMENTS A standard practice is to begin with the complainant—in that as with each of you? No? No? Then the respondent—in that as with each of you? No? No? Finally, the mediator will introduce what you hope mediation will accomplish, and describe the issues as you see them.

153

©NASPA/Hierophant Enterprises, Inc, 2020. Copyrighted material. Express permission to post this material on the University of North Alabama website has been granted to comply with 34 C.F.R. § 106.45(b)(10)(i)(D). This material is not intended to be used by other entities, including other entities of higher education, for their own training purposes for any reason. Use of this material for proprietary reasons, except by the original author(s), is strictly prohibited.