Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Plan: 2020-2025
I am honored to present the new 2020-2025 Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Plan, Model for Academic Excellence Through Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, to the University of North Alabama (UNA). At UNA, “diversity” and “inclusion” are complementary, inextricably linked, and interrelated, rather than being mutually exclusive. A defining feature of UNA’s past, present, and future diversity and inclusion refers to the variety of personal experiences, values, and worldviews that arise from differences of culture and circumstance. Such differences include race, ethnicity, gender, age, religion, language, abilities/disabilities, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, geographic region, and others. For the University of North Alabama to fully realize its potential and embody inclusive excellence, it must foster a diverse, inclusive, engaged, and innovative campus environment where everyone is treated with respect and dignity. The opportunity ahead is to transform UNA into a diverse, equitable, and inclusive scholarly community of the highest caliber. A university that honors diversity, upholds a renewed commitment to every background and perspective, and forges a new narrative, one that is focused on free inquiry, respect, knowledge, and a global context—this is what we strive for at UNA.

Importantly, the new Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Plan aligns with the University’s 2019-2024 Strategic Plan and is the next logical step in the institutional transformation of UNA. This is a living, actionable, and measurable plan that spans the spectrum of inclusion, access, and equity—that when fulfilled—will become a model for other institutions of higher education. This plan is holistic in scope, rooted in empirical evidence, and derived through broad consensus building. The plan is a culmination of a 13-month internal and external investigation of diversity and inclusion, access, and equity. An 18-person task force conducted more than 20 constituent group meetings, hosted eight focus groups (internal and external), and surveyed our campus community. I commend the Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Task Force and thank them for crafting a plan that embarks on a path to inclusive excellence.

Roar Lions!
Sincerely,
Ron K. Patterson
Ron K. Patterson, Ed.S., Chief Enrollment Officer and Assistant to the President for Diversity
“We should indeed keep calm in the face of difference, and live our lives in a state of inclusion and wonder at the diversity of humanity.”

— George Takei
I am pleased to offer this welcome to the new Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Plan for the University of North Alabama. As a public university, UNA plays a key role in uplifting the quality of life for citizens in our region and state. The range of programs we provide runs the gamut from academic degrees to artistic performances, and from economic development to athletic competitions. In addition to these activities, we also lead by example when it comes to ensuring that our campus community celebrates diversity as a strength and encourages participation by individuals from different backgrounds and life experiences.

UNA boasts a proud tradition when it comes to diversity and inclusion. In the late nineteenth century, this institution became a national leader for gender equality by being among the first to welcome women into the student population. Racial barriers fell a century later, and, once again, the University made headlines for the positive example it set for social change in higher education.

As proud as we are of this history, we understand that a commitment to diversity and inclusion is a journey and not a destination. For the University of North Alabama, that journey remains an active and important part of our identity. We want to be a champion for diversity and inclusion in the twenty-first century just as surely as we were in earlier eras. That means thinking about diversity in new ways and constantly assessing our campus climate to ensure that we are positioned to meet the needs of all students. That's why this new plan is so important.

In closing, I wish to acknowledge the members of the Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Task Force and thank them for the many hours that went into the construction of this plan. UNA is stronger and better because of their efforts.

Roar Lions!

Ken Kitts

Ken Kitts, Ph.D., President
It is my distinct pleasure to offer my fullest support of the University of North Alabama’s first Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Plan. I commend the committee and the campus community for crafting a plan that is actionable, bold, concise, and reflective of the mission and values of UNA. The University has a legacy of embracing perceived differences, celebrating diversity and inclusion, engaging in honest dialogue, and working together to achieve goals—and this plan is no exception.

Importantly and appropriately, the Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Plan align with the University’s 2019-24 Strategic Plan that boasts diversity and inclusion as one of its five guiding themes. One can clearly see how seriously UNA takes diversity and inclusion as a core tenet threaded through all aspects of the University. Students, especially, will be exposed to diversity and inclusion—broadly-defined—at all stages of their education and development, gaining a deeper and more profound appreciation and respect for all people and perspectives.

While the University of North Alabama has many successful programs and initiatives already in place, it is further committed to integration and prioritization of diversity and inclusion by: first, the strategic recruitment and hiring of faculty members from disadvantaged backgrounds; second, the design and implementation of more culturally diverse curricula; next, increased academic support of students from diverse and disadvantaged backgrounds; finally, further focus upon the Mitchell-West Center for Social Inclusion, the only academic center of its type in the region.

In closing, I could not be more excited about this plan or hopeful regarding the culture of diversity and inclusion at UNA. Roar Lions!

Sincerely,

Ross C. Alexander

Ross C. Alexander, Ph.D., Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost
The mission of the University of North Alabama is to be: "Innovative. Inclusive. Engaged. Evolving. Global."

Theme III – Diversity and Inclusion

As noted in the new five year “2019-2024 Roaring with Excellence” University Strategic Plan, theme three highlights Diversity and Inclusion. Diversity and Inclusion, an embedded piece of our mission, will gain renewed focus in the Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Plan as the University seeks to build a welcoming, respectful campus community that is committed to the evolution of this great University.

First, for the purposes of our plan, diversity, equity, and inclusion are defined below.

DIVERSITY

Individual differences (e.g., personality, prior knowledge, and life experiences) and group/social differences (e.g., race/ethnicity, class, gender, sexual orientation, country of origin, and ability as well as cultural, political, religious, or other affiliations) (Association of American Colleges & Universities).

EQUITY

The practice of ensuring that personal or social circumstances, such as protected class or intersecting identities, are not obstacles to achieving one’s potential. Equity is reflected in policies and processes, which acknowledge that we live in a world where not all members are afforded the same resources, treatment, and opportunity, and works to remedy this fact (adapted from Equity and Quality in Education, 2012).

INCLUSION

The result of a successful alignment of diversity and equity, inclusion is an active and ongoing process of intentional engagement with all members of our campus and community to increase respect, knowledge, and empathic understanding, and a commitment to change the power structures and institutional policies and practices that create systematic advantages for some and disadvantages for others (adapted from Association of American Colleges & Universities; Williams, 2013).
A mural was dedicated in 2019 in Collier Library to Dr. Wendell W. Gunn. Dr. Gunn integrated the University of North Alabama campus in 1963, and more than 55 years later, he was appointed to the University’s highest governing body, its Board of Trustees. Dr. Gunn continues to be a vital part of the campus community, visiting often and chatting with students.
Theme III - Diversity and Inclusion

As noted in the new five-year “2019-2024 Roaring with Excellence” University Strategic Plan, the third theme highlights Diversity and Inclusion.

Diversity and Inclusion, an embedded piece of our mission, will gain renewed focus in the Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Plan as the institution seeks to build a climate of inclusion that will facilitate access, growth in minority, and student success.

To that end, the University has many milestones to celebrate. Listed above are recent priorities that translate into milestones—specific achievements necessary to boast the University’s commitment to diversity and inclusion.

This Strategic Plan was made possible by:

The unwavering support and passion for equity and inclusion of President Kitts and Dr. Ross Alexander; the creative thinking and hard work of the members of the Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Task Force;

the Director of the Office of Diversity and Institutional Equity, with gratitude for leadership;

the Director of the Mitchell-West Center for Social Inclusion, with gratitude for leadership;

the many University of North Alabama students, faculty, staff, and senior administration who contributed their voices, ideas, commitment to diversity, inclusion, and social justice, and intellectual and personal integrity;

the Shoals community writ large for participating and sharing its voice and ideas, commitment to diversity, inclusion, and social justice;

colleagues Dr. Benjamin Reese for visiting campus and meeting with the many constituent groups and senior leadership on campus and Deloise Smith for facilitating our focus groups with both on and off campus constituents.
Strategic Diversity and Inclusion Plan: 2020-2025
UNA adheres to all federal and state civil rights laws prohibiting discrimination in public institutions of higher education. UNA will not discriminate against any employee, applicant for employment, student or applicant for admission on the basis of race, color, sex, pregnancy, religion, creed, ethnicity, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, veteran or military status, predisposing genetic characteristics, domestic violence victim status or any other protected category under applicable local, state or federal law, including protections for those opposing discrimination or participating in any resolution process on campus or within the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission or other human rights agencies. This policy covers nondiscrimination in employment and in access to educational opportunities. Reports of discrimination may be reported to the following areas: Human Resources, Student Conduct, University Ombudsman, Title IX Coordinator.
